

SPLendid GREEK VICTORY

LOCAL GREEKS WILL CELEBRATE FORTRESS OF JANINA WITH 32,000 MEN SURRENDERED TO GREEKS

News of the Fall of Janina Well Received in Lowell—Sons of Athens to Parade Tonight

Never was a news item so gladly received by the Lowell Greeks as that of the fall of Janina, which came this morning through a message sent by the Pan-Hellenic Union headquarters in New York, to one of the directors, George Kouzoules of this city. The news was quickly spread about the community, and immediately a celebration was planned for this evening.

When the telegram was received by Mr. Kouzoules, he immediately called at The Sun office to verify the news, and then the cheerful message was quickly spread through the community. A few hours later the Greek newspaper, Pan-Hellenic, was selling like hot cakes, and nothing but joy could be seen in the community, especially in the coffee houses, where groups assembled to drink a cup of coffee to the health of the brave soldiers who for months have clung to their post. Cheers of "Viva la Patrie" could be heard in the vicinity of Market street, and all the signs of Athens were a pleasant smile.

The matter was discussed thoroughly by learned men of the community and many felt that the fall of Janina means the end of the war. One prominent man in the colony in conversation with the writer said the fall of Janina means a lot to the Greek army, for a Greek army numbering about 125,000 men have been constantly fighting for this important city for the past five months.

"I really believe this will end the war," said this party, "for now that the Greeks are masters of Janina, a part of the army will undoubtedly be shifted over to the assistance of the Bulgarians who are putting up a great battle for Adrianople and Scutaria. I believe a number of Turks were made prisoners and considerable ammunition and arms captured by the Greeks, which means another step toward final and quick victory.

"We are all very much pleased with this victory and many are contemplating a celebration for this evening."

Many Greeks who are employed in the mills were apprised of the joyful news this noon and a large number remained at home this afternoon, in order to formulate plans for the celebration. If the weather is favorable and if plans are not changed, the Greeks will all meet at their church in Jefferson street at 7:30 o'clock this evening. They will all be supplied with Roman candles and headed by a brass band will parade about the city in order to show their joy over the victory of the Greek army.

The route of the parade will be Market to Horton, to Fletcher, to Thorneville, then to Middlesex, to Central Market and back into the church, where patriotic speeches will be delivered by prominent speakers.

A couple of young Greeks arrived in the community a few days ago, coming from Greece, where they claimed they had served their country in the war, later being honorably discharged on account of disability being caused by bullet wounds. After investigating, however, many were of the opinion that these two young men were deserters, and inasmuch as their presence in Lowell was not wanted, they were induced to leave for other fields, and it is said that one went to Manchester, N. H., while the whereabouts of the other is unknown.

Fierce Bombardment Lasting Two Days Preceded Surrender—30,000 Shells Fired

The fall of the fortress of Janina this morning before the gallant onslaught of the Greek forces is regarded as the greatest victory of the war. It evens up the honors between Greece and Bulgaria, and now there will be no excuse for depriving Greece of her fair share of the territory and the strongholds captured. In the capture of Janina, the Greek commander took 32,000 Turkish prisoners comprising the whole of the garrison and many refugees from Monastir and other places.

Fierce Bombardment
ATHENS, March 6.—The Turkish fortress of Janina, the key to the possession of the Province of Epirus, with its garrison of 32,000 men, surrendered to the Greek army today, after a defense which forms one of the most brilliant episodes of the Balkan war.

The surrender was preceded by a fierce bombardment lasting, without cessation, two days and two nights. Every gun available, including a number of heavy howitzers, lent by the Serbian artillery, was brought to bear by the Greeks upon the fortress during the bombardment.

30,000 Shells Fired
No fewer than 30,000 shells were fired from the Greek guns during the first day's bombardment. Gradually the Turkish batteries at Ilzani, Manolara, Sakli and elsewhere were silenced under the sustained rain of projectiles. The Greek commanders by a feint, led the Turks to believe that their attack would be made from the right and as soon as the attention of the defenders had been distracted the Greeks hurled large bodies of infantry on to the Turkish left. The Ottoman troops, utterly surprised, fell back in disorder.

The batteries on the heights of Ilzani, which had been the mainstay of the defense, were unable to stand the storm of shells and had been put out of action by 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Greeks Pushed Forward
The Greeks pushed their forward movement during the afternoon and occupied the Turkish batteries on the Sakli and Elas hills, capturing all the guns and the artillerymen. The Greek battalions gradually deployed upon the plain in front of the city itself, and the Turkish flight became general. Whole detachments succumbed to the panic and joined in a mad race into the city, with the Greek troops in hot pursuit almost to the walls.

The Flag of Truce
With all the defending batteries in the hands of the Greeks and the Helles soldiers at the gates of Janina, Essaad Pasha, the Turkish commander, at 8 o'clock this morning, sent messengers on a flag of truce to Crown Prince Constantine of Greece, announcing the surrender of the city and all the troops under his command.

Fall of Stronghold Announced
The fall of the stronghold was announced by the crown prince to the Greek war office in the following despatch:

"Eninaga (Greek headquarters), 6 a. m.—The Greek army, having occupied the entire left front of the city of Janina, and also Ilzani and Castiza having been surrounded by our troops, Essaad Pasha has just informed me that his troops surrender as prisoners of war."

"I will send you shortly details of the great victory of our gallant army." Wild enthusiasm reigned in the streets of Athens on the announcement of the news. All the houses were decorated with flags and excited people thronged the thoroughfares singing the Greek national anthem while joyous peals rang out from every church steeple in the capital.

Greeks in London Rejoice
LONDON, March 6.—There is great rejoicing in Greek diplomatic circles and among the Greek residents of London over the fall of the important Turkish stronghold of Janina which had hitherto offered such stern resistance to the Greek attack. Their joy is not only on account of the state of their army in the field but because they claim that the capture of Janina places Greece in a much stronger position to deal with Bulgaria when the time comes for the division of the spoils of war.

Greek Transports Sunk
VIENNA, March 6.—The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh today sank three Greek transports loaded with Serbian troops on the way to Scutari, according to a Constantinople dispatch to the New York Press.

The attack on the transports, occurred, it is said, near the peninsula of Hagios Oros in the Aegean sea. From this it would appear that the transports were proceeding not to Scutari but to Gallipoli, where it was proposed some time ago by the Balkan allies to make a flank attack on the Turkish troops defending the Dardanelles.

The convoy of the Greek transports was a large one, consisting of 24 vessels, which carried 31 guns. They were encountered by the cruiser Hamidieh shortly after they had left the coast. With her battery of powerful 4.7 inch guns she was able to create havoc among the practically unprotected transports loaded with soldiers, according to the report here.

The Greek advance on Janina began late in October and the Turks retired rapidly before them. Operations round the fortress opened about the beginning of December and continued with varying success even during the period of the armistice to which the Greeks never formally agreed. Several of the outlying forts fell before the Greek assaults and the attack on the principal fortifications was gradually pressed home.

Large Artillery
The Turkish garrison possessed 150 guns, most of which were large fortress artillery. These were distributed among the forts at Ilzani to the south, Du-ruti to the southwest, Scutivra to the west and Gardhaki to the northwest. It was not known until this morning how many Turkish troops were in the city, the estimates heretofore carrying from 15,000 to 20,000 men. The population numbered 22,000, most of them Greeks.

The fortifications which had at one time been strong were quite antiquated and could not resist modern cannon, with which the Greeks were well supplied.

Provisions throughout the siege had been fairly plentiful as Janina is a center of the grain trade in the eastern provinces of European Turkey.

THE NEW SCHOOL OF ST. PETER'S PARISH NOW ALMOST COMPLETED AND WHICH WILL BE OPENED NEXT SEPTEMBER

Work on the new St. Peter's parish school in Gorham street is progressing rapidly and the general contractor, E. G. Twohey, who has charge, expects to complete the edifice by the first of July, which means that the building will be ready for occupancy for the fall school term.

The school when completed will be one of the best in this city. It will contain 15 class rooms with a large assembly hall on the top floor. It is a three-story brick structure with basement, and the interior will be finished with Georgia pine.

The Sun photographer passing the building a few days ago took a picture of it, which is reproduced above.

THE TEXTILE SCHOOLS CRITICIZED

State Board of Education Says They Should be More Helpful to Local Industries

The report of the state board of education on the three textile schools of the state, the Lowell, Fall River and New Bedford schools, is in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution the latter part of next week. The report contains some very important recommendations and advises that additional legislation be provided so that the work of the schools may be co-ordinated. The board states the time has arrived when further systematic efforts should be made to render the textile schools more efficient in proportion to the output of public funds required to maintain them, and that the schools should do their utmost to discover ways of being of greatest possible service to the textile industries of the local community and to the state.

It is pointed out in the report that the textile schools seem to think that the training of executives and supervisors is the only service to be rendered and that the schools have ignored the possibilities of effective trade training, and appear to have made no serious attempts to discover whether types of trade training of value to the textile industry can be developed.

The board recommends that for the current year appropriations shall be based upon courses already established, that no appropriation for further expenditures shall be made until detailed plans have been made, passed upon by

CABINET MEMBERS TAKE OATH

Met Formally Today—President Wilson Received Many Congratulatory Letters

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Wilson's cabinet met formally today. As the nominations had not been sent to the senate when the first conference took place yesterday that meeting had no official standing.

No provision had been made for Vice President Marshall, although President Wilson is quoted as saying that he saw no reason why the vice president should not sit with the official family.

President Wilson's cabinet today broke some of the records established by Mr. Taft's official family. The White House offices were reached by the cabinet members after 11 o'clock, the hour set for the meeting. All Mr. Wilson's cabinet were in their offices within a few minutes of the meeting hour, ready to sit for a dozen photographers and several moving picture men.

Secretary Bryan was again a center of interest when he entered the executive office. He had a hard time getting through the crowd and was stopped several times to be introduced by senators or congressmen to their constituents. Several women in the waiting room began to clap their hands and sing out, "Oh, there's Bryan," when the secretary entered at a rapid walk, doffed his broad brimmed hat and smiled a morning greeting. Secretary General McReynolds, Secretary

McAdoo of the treasury department and Secretary McMillan of the department of commerce took the oath of office today. Mr. McAdoo was sworn in by Associate Justice Hughes of the supreme court.

PRESIDENT WILSON GAVE DEMONSTRATION OF HIS NEW PATRONAGE RULE

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Wilson gave a practical demonstration of the application of his new patronage rule today. Senators Bryan and Fletcher of Florida called at the White House to discuss appointments of a district judge and a United States attorney in the southern district of Florida. The president received them courteously but asked them to make their recommendations to the attorney general.

the legislature yesterday, in substance by the house of representatives, providing for better housing in this and other cities by doing away with tenements in the congested districts. The bill was heard before the committee on metropolitan affairs and met with some opposition on the grounds that it was too drastic.

Suffrage for Women
The woman suffragists are preparing to make a big fight in the house for the passage of the amendment to the constitution providing that women shall vote at all elections.

The amendment was rejected by the committee on metropolitan affairs yesterday by a vote of six to three. The final line up of the committee will be seven to four.

The vote on party lines showed five of the seven against the amendment are republicans, while the democrats divided evenly, giving two for and two against.

It was thought that the amendment had a chance of passage after the defeat of the "straw vote" bill for an expression of opinion on suffrage. That bill failed because of the objection of suffragists who wanted the amendment.

The republican leaders were willing to stand by a public opinion bill, but they are opposed to the amendment.

The members who voted against the petition were Senator Wells of Haverhill and Representative Sherburne of Brookline. The members of Boston, Lowell, Fitchburg, Fitzpatrick and Lawrence and Maguire of Boston, Fitzpatrick and Maguire are democrats.

Those who voted for the petition were Senator Ward of Buckland and Representative Parsons of Worcester and J. H. Sullivan of Boston.

The absentees were Representatives Hurlbut of Worcester and McGonagle of Boston, Sullivan and McGonagle are democrats.

It is understood that Hurlbut opposes the petition and that McGonagle favors it.

By a large majority, the house killed the bill to provide three-quarter pension for clerks of courts.

Stop Bad Housing
Bad housing in tenement districts was considered by the committee on metropolitan affairs yesterday at the state house. The specific bill in question was submitted by the Massachusetts Civic League and was said to be the fruit of more than two years' work by experts in housing problems.

E. T. Hartman, secretary of the league, said the bill included good features from the laws of New York, New Jersey, Indiana and the municipality of London. It had been approved in substance, he said, by the boards of health of Boston, Chicago, Everett, Fall River, Springfield, Newton, Melrose, Haverhill, Malden, Pittsfield, Lowell, Salem and by the Massachusetts associated boards of health. He said the bill is based on 25 years' experience in New York city.

The principle of the bill, he said, was to do away with the three-deckers in the congested districts and substitute two and one-half story buildings for two families; affording good light and air for every room.

Joseph Long said the bill is permissive for cities and urged a law to prescribe just how the houses for the poor man should be built, as he has no vote in the process. The two worst features in the tenement house problem today, he said, are the way in which light and air reach the room, and the fire risk, which is most important.

Dorchester, he said, is looked upon as a big conflagration, and it may not be long coming under existing tenement conditions. The people are taking terrible risks.

Conclusus A. Parker of Dorchester, who helped frame this bill, said that he bought property on an unrestricted street. Seven years ago there were two and one-half story houses on that street, with plenty of space between. Today, he said, opposite his house is a small one-story store run out to the sidewalk and there to it is an enormous three-decker that has not a square timber in it.

Property Values Depreciate
The result is that property values on the street have begun to depreciate, and in six years he doubted if he could get within $1000 of the original value of his house.

"I look for one of the biggest conflagrations in Dorchester in its history," said Mr. Parker. He further said that Philadelphia offered one of the best illustrations of what could be accomplished under such a law as this bill in its tenement houses.

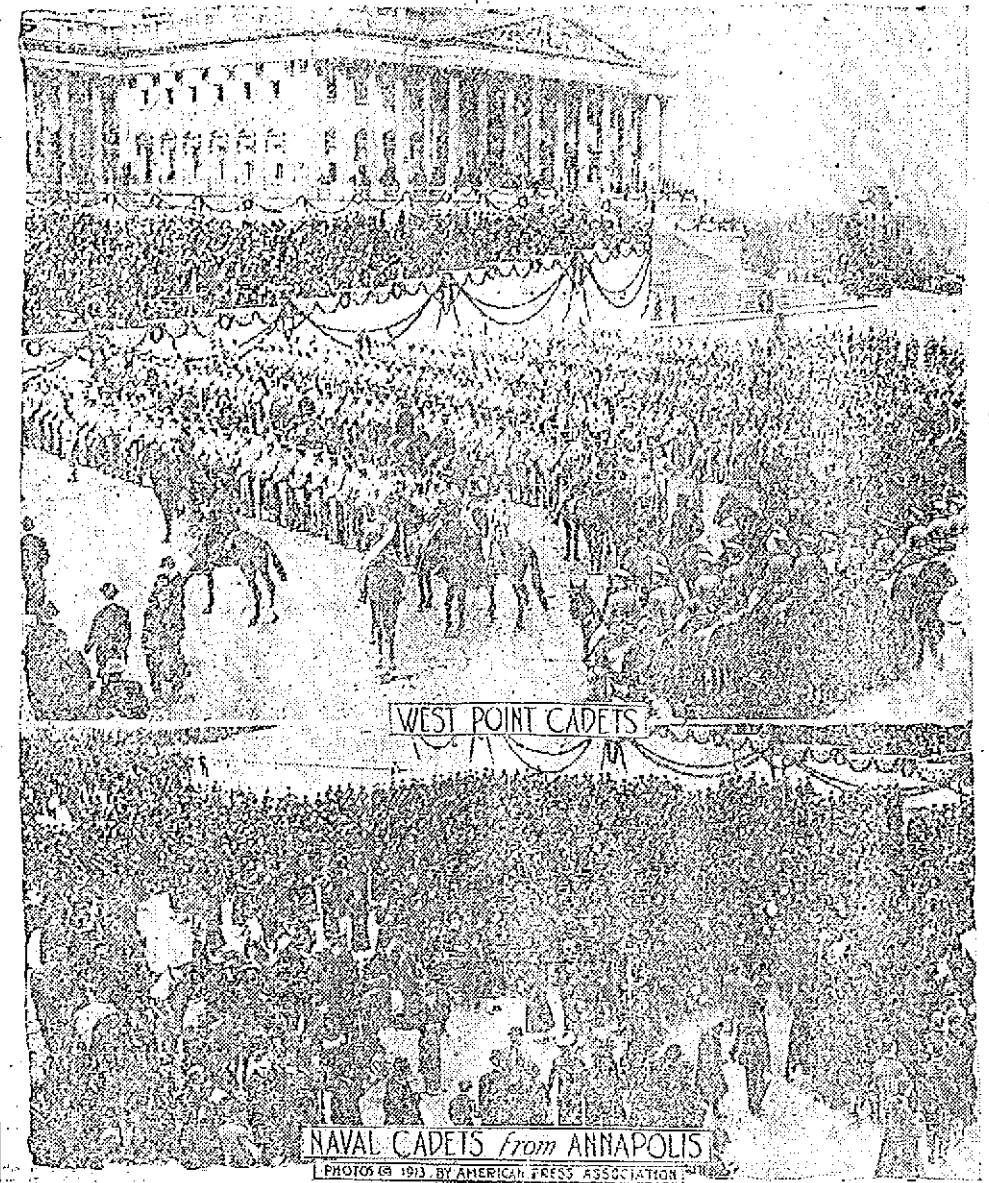

William S. Felton of Salem said the conditions in Beverly, where the United Shoe Machinery Company has built large factories and in Salem, about the Naumkeag mills, are typical of those of Fall River, Lowell and New Bedford in the tenement house conditions. One-third of the tenements occupy too much of the area of the lot, and with the few feet between them the extreme height of the three-deckers shuts out light and air.

Prof. E. M. Gunn of Technology said that it had been demonstrated that bad housing tends to a high mortality, tuberculosis, infantile paralysis and increase in the number of children born blind.

The bill was opposed by James Gillette and James Currie, who said the three-decker has given the poor family a low rate that with all the modern improvements, they thought the bill too drastic. The hearing was closed.

Fire Automobile Not Yet in Active Service

The Robinson Automobile company has its headquarters in St. Louis and it goes without saying that the company is from Missouri. Just for that the company's ultimatum is that the city must come over with the legal tender before the Robinson combination hose and chemical fire automobile, stationed at the Race street engine house, can respond to a fire alarm. That is the order which has come from the company's headquarters and it is backed up by a chauffeur named Willis who is stationed at the fire house.

The Robinson is the largest of the three machines recently purchased for the fire department and it was given a tryout several days ago. It succeeded in running the gauntlet all right and while Commissioner Barrett thought the differential gears might be improved upon, he did not go on record as saying that they were not up to the standard. He sent several automobile experts to the fire house to examine the gears and the experts reported that the gears were all right.

The Robinson company will not allow its machine to be used until it is paid for; not even though a general alarm comes in and that puts the fire department in a rather tight box. The money the city agreed to pay for the machine is $5500. The holdup on the part of the city, it is understood, is occasioned by the case now pending before the court as to the proper method for the city to pursue in the purchase of a piece of fire apparatus, whether it be a vote of the majority of the commission, independent of the supply department, or through the agency of that department. The case, it is expected, will be decided by the supreme court this month.

WOMAN ON THE BENCH
Judge Bartelme Disposed of 15 Cases

CHICAGO, March 6.—Fifteen cases were disposed of yesterday in Judge Marie Bartelme's court. It was the first day of the court, the attaches of which are all women, and Miss Bartelme expressed herself as highly pleased with the result.

Not a man is admitted to the courtroom, where the hearings are limited to the cases of either wayward girls or those who "never had a chance."

Judge Bartelme was appointed by Judge Thacker of the juvenile court to hear the class of cases, holding that many girls could more easily tell their stories to a woman than a man. Women probation officers acted as bailiffs and there was a woman clerk in the court.

"It is our hope to get justice for these girls and judging from the first day's work I think we will be successful," said Miss Bartelme.

Steamer Labrador Was Beached

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 6.—The first accident in connection with the annual hunt for seals was reported yesterday when the steamer Labrador was beached in a striking condition. The crew of 140 men aboard the steamer made their way to the shore in safety. The vessel probably will be a total loss.

The Labrador was proceeding for the Gulf of St. Lawrence by way of the west coast when she sprang a leak. Further progress was dangerous and the captain beached the vessel in the snow.

HAS TENDERED HIS RESIGNATION

Superintendent of Parks
Accepts Position Out of the City

SUPT. CHARLES A. WHITTET

Charles A. Whittet has resigned as superintendent of parks. He announced his resignation at a meeting of the park commission last night. Mr. Whittet has been superintendent of parks for ten years. He has accepted a position out of Lowell. Mr. Whittet's resignation did not come as a very great surprise. As a matter of fact it is somewhat of a surprise that it did not come sooner as it was known to the board members several months ago that the superintendent intended to accept a position out of Lowell. Mr. Whittet has made a very good superintendent of parks. He told the commission that he would like to take up his new place as soon after April 1, as possible.

Bills to the amount of $293.33 were ordered paid. For the care of trees, $1.50 was also voted paid.

Supt. Whittet thought the appropriation of $12,000 might be divided up tentatively. He thought $5000 might be laid out for labor and $3000 for supplies. On motion of Mr. Greene, it was voted to divide the appropriation in this manner.

Mr. Carr thought it too bad that a sanitary station cannot be placed on the South common. Judge Pickman said the one which had been there had proven such a nuisance that the health board had ordered it taken down. Unless one can be erected which can have a permanent caretaker it would not be worth while to make another attempt to maintain one.

"We have been given nothing for the care of Lucy Larcum park," said Mr. Greene. "If the park is to be taken care of it must be done legally, as it was last year. The mayor agreed to take care of it, and then at the close of the year refused to do it. The park must be allowed to go to weeds, unless the park department, which has nothing to do with it, legally pays the bills."

Judge Pickman believed it a "great pity that no attention is paid to Shedd park." The land had been given in good faith, he said.

"More than that," he continued, "there has not been a drowning accident this winter and this is due to the fact that there has been skating at Shedd park."

Judge Pickman spoke about the walk on the South common. He said Sheriff Blitts had reported to him that the common is out of repair and a menace to the public. Supt. Whittet said there are 6250 square yards of walks on the commons and Fort Hill park and he said it would cost $3650 to repair them.

The worst walk in the South common is that which runs from the head of the common to the jail. The walk running from South street is in good shape, he said.

Supt. Whittet said that the council has apportioned $12,000 for the park department, but has not sub-divided it. Therefore, the department may spend the money as it sees fit.

Mr. Carr wanted to know if the concreting apparatus of the street department could not be borrowed to do some work.

"There is rum and rum," said Judge Pickman, "and there is concrete and concrete. Some concrete is good, and if I were going to put concrete down, I would have the very best, or none at all. Does the street department do good concreting, as good as Smith can give us?"

"The way the concreting work was done by the street department last summer, it cost the city three times as much as it would by contract," said Mr. Greene. "I saw work done on Westford street and you never saw such haphazard, careless work in your life. I could never agree to such work being done for the park department."

Supt. Whittet recommended the eliminating of one short walk at Park garden, grassing over the place where the walk now is. The walk is seldom used, it was said.

Mr. Greene and Mr. Rountree were named a special committee to look over the walks mentioned, and to determine what it will cost to make repairs.

Mr. Rountree said firemen at the Lawrence street house reported that limbs on Andrews street are so low that they are nearly swept from their seats.

"A case of Absalom," said Judge Pickman.

The chairman thought that the trees in Fort Hill park should be labeled with both their Latin and English names. He believed that many children are desirous of learning more about growing things. For their benefit the different varieties, about 30 in number, should be properly labeled. He brought up Hartford as an instance of a city which makes its parks educational places. There, not only the trees, but the flowers are given both their botanical and common names. Judge Pickman said arrangements had been made to have the trees labeled.

Speaking of parks, Judge Pickman said he had asked Mr. Whittet to write to various cities where lawn tennis is used in public parks as a means of recreation, to find out how extensively it is used. He said he felt it is the best means of exercising the body. At the present time lawn tennis can only be played on private courts. Not every body can belong to the Vesper-Country club, he said. Supt. Whittet said he would have the information prepared for the next meeting.

PAINS, ACHES, SPRAINS, BRUISES

Fixed Quick! By a Trained Nurse's Discovery!

Soft, Bland, Soothing
Page's Oil Liniment

Of Lynn

"My mother, an experienced nurse discovered a mixture of oil and anodynes which applied by a special method as used by her, relieved pain in a manner that is almost wonderful. There are many such mixtures but there is no other that I know of that can be used in just the same way that hers is used for the relief of pain. I have named it after her, Page's Oil Liniment."

Pain is in most cases a matter of congestion or in other words a stopping of the blood flow through the affected part. In nine cases out of ten the relief of this congestion will stop the pain.

A peculiar method of applying the liniment as described on each bottle, the goodness of the liniment is forced right into the muscles and flesh in such a way that the circulation is usually restored at once and the pain disappears. There is no unpleasant after-effect, no burning or blistering of the skin.

Below I publish a few testimonials and I want you to notice that they are nearly all from people right in my own town, where I live, the city of Lynn, Mass., where the liniment is well-known as the great pain reliever.

Nurse With Inflammatory Rheumatism
"My Dear Friend: It is indeed a pleasure to endorse in the strongest terms your liniment. I have inflammatory rheumatism was given up to die by my physician. I can sincerely say it saved my life. Yours respectfully, Mrs. Mary F. Nichols, (Nurse), 5 Rhodes ave., Lynn, Mass."

Another Rheumatism
"For nearly a year I suffered with rheumatism. I was on crutches for six weeks, never without pain. I tried all kinds of liniments without relief, but shortly after trying your liniment I got so I could walk and am almost entirely cured. Mrs. Wm. Doucette, 74 Rock ave., Lynn, Mass."

Rheumatism in Feet
"I used Page's Oil Liniment for rheumatism in my feet. It has taken away all swelling and I will recommend it to all sufferers. Mrs. M. J. Barry, 16 Pleasant st., Lynn."

I urge you to start at once using Page's Oil Liniment following the simple directions on the bottle. The price is 25c and 50c per bottle. These up-to-date stores are the only ones in Lowell where you can at present buy this new remedy:

IN THE LENTEN SEASON

Rest and Fasting Two Features

How does Lent affect the health question for most people?

In the first place, it supplies the opportunity of enjoying two of the most up to date "cures" in moderate degree—rest and fasting. The majority of people could perfectly well, for the next few weeks at any rate, cut down their social engagements, live more simply and alter their environment to provide the repose they need. A life of strain and stress is of far less consequence if we can insure definite periods of rest, and Lent gives the chance to many people who, to their own undoing, ignore it. The dearth of social entertainments insures early hours, more sleep. It would make a vast difference to the health of any one to go to bed at 10.30 every night for a month. By increasing the allowance of sleep we supply one of the most valuable attributes of the rest cure. The women who are really run down should try what one week's rest cure at home in Lent will do for them. Many mothers of families who could never contemplate an expensive rest cure would find that a modified one at home would restore their nerves, their endurance, their patience, their physical well being. If at the same time, Lenten influence inspired a quiet meditation, a more spiritual atmosphere and happier philosophy they would emerge stronger, better and more capable from a Lent rest. Many women who stand in real need of this say that it would be impossible to "rest cure" in their own homes because of responsibilities and incessant interruptions.

But method will do a great deal, and the clever housewife can plan out the household routine for perhaps a couple of weeks ahead if it is necessary to do so. The great advantage of the rest cure at home is that it costs practically nothing. The starvation cure has been so much to the front for two or three years that most people are aware of the beneficial effect of occasional periods of fasting upon the health. While the simple potage of lentils, which is often days the church ordained, is not rigidly adhered to by many today, Lent enjoins more limited fare, the restriction of butcher's meat and fewer meats from the hygienic point of view most excellent advice. Some people cut down their meals, give up superfluous luxuries, while a few fast actually and continuously, partaking only of the simplest and plainest fare that is essential to maintain life. In the case of those who are obese the results are exclusively good, but there is danger in extreme measures for the thin, nervy, hypersensitive individual, who is most likely to go in for observances on this scale.

Medical men are coming more and more to feel that the people who habitually live well and tend to be overfed, eating at least four solid meals a day, would be far healthier and happier and would live longer as well if they could be prevailed upon to fast now and again, as well as reduce the amount of food they consume daily. A short fast—say, forty-eight hours—gives the digestive organs a complete rest and allows the body to get rid of toxins from the blood, which are closely concerned in the production of gout, rheumatism and many other ills of the flesh.

Mentally also fasting is beneficial, provided it is not carried to the extent of impairing the nourishment and diminishing the vitality.

The moral influence is very real. It is a good thing for people to be able to give up at will what is superfluous and luxurious in daily life. There are men whose will power is so feeble that they would be incapable of stopping smoking for a week, and women too. The habit of self-indulgence is easily established, and in this age, when half-shirts and negligees are unpopular with the majority, the "doing without" policy is almost necessary now and again.

Mental depression and melancholia are frequently associated with digestive disorder and sluggish liver. Simple living, simple fare, a little more exercise and quiet will cure a large percentage of "nerves." Every one of the fashionable "cures" at home and abroad has three factors in common—rest, regulation of diet and daily exercise. Unfortunately most people value a cure according to the amount of money it costs them and the trouble it entails. They can achieve the same results for nothing by utilizing the opportunities of Lent.

A Pretty Waist Belt

A very pretty waist belt was worn recently by a young girl on a gray chiffon dress. It was of broad gray velvet ribbon, with a fringe of tiny pink roses at each end and a buckle to match. The belt was carried round the waist to meet at the left side, where one end was pushed through the flower buckle and both ends hung down the skirt, the pink rose fringe hanging frothily near the feet.

TAFT WELCOMED AT AUGUSTA

Ex-President Given a Great Reception—Children Waved American Flags

AUGUSTA, Me., March 6.—A great welcome was given to William H. Taft when he arrived here yesterday. One thousand school children, each waving an American flag and cheering, the life-guard academy cadets drawn up in military formation and several thousand citizens, including the mayor and members of the city council, were at the Union station to greet the ex-president.

Chief of Taft showed his appreciation of the reception and the fact that he was much in evidence from the time he left his private car until an automobile carried him, Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen away to their hotel.

"I am impatient to get to my golf sticks," said Mr. Taft, "and I am indeed glad of the chance to come to Augusta for a few weeks."

The Taft private car carrying Mr. and Mrs. Taft, Miss Helen, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Helen, Mrs. Charles, Mrs. W. D. Mitchell, the stenographer, and Mr. Taft's personal attendant, all of Mr. Taft's public attendants from the time he was president-elect, was attached to the Atlantic coast line train traveling here at 8:55 o'clock this morning.

In another car was a local committee who went on to Washington to escort Mr. Taft "back home" to Augusta.

LIPTON TO MAKE FOURTH ATTEMPT

To Bring Back America's Cup to England—Challenge Sent to New York Yacht Club

LONDON, March 5.—It was learned on good authority yesterday that Sir Thomas Lipton will make a fourth attempt to bring back the America's cup to England. A challenge has been sent to the New York Yacht club, the present holder of the cup, inviting the organization to produce a yacht next season to defend its aquatic honors.

Sir Thomas Lipton expressed considerable surprise when asked today whether the challenge for the America's cup had been sent, for he had endeavored to keep it a secret until the arrival of the letter containing it which had been sent to the New York Yacht club. For the same reason Sir Thomas rejected the offer and was compelled to withhold some of the details.

The yacht which goes to New York will be named the Shamrock IV, an 80-ton schooner. Sir Thomas Lipton is a great believer in the luck of the four leaved shamrock.

The news that Sir Thomas Lipton has challenged for the America's cup will be well received in Great Britain. Only last week the leading sporting newspaper in England, The Field, expressed the hope that Sir Thomas had not deserted the yachtsmen of England while since his return from America he has been given every encouragement to challenge and he can have the pick of the yachting crews.

As to his prospects, Sir Thomas said: "I am delighted at the prospect of this new old racing friends of New York. I have always maintained that I have never met better sportsmen and I never was treated better than in America. There everything was done to give me an equal show."

The America's cup passed into possession of the New York Yacht club in 1871 when it was presented to the club by George Schuyler, the then sole surviving member of the cup, won at Cowes in 1851.

Mr. Lipton's challenge will not interfere in any way with the races he has promised to participate in at San Francisco in 1915.

Charles Nicholson of Gosport, England, has been selected to design and build Shamrock IV for Sir Thomas Lipton. He is the author of many successful racing yachts.

DR. F. D. FRIEDMAN INVITED

TO MAKE TEST IN THIS CITY

NEW YORK, March 5.—The city health authorities yesterday gave Dr. F. D. Friedman of Berlin permission to test the tuberculin, which he claims is a cure for tuberculosis. If Dr. Friedman's claims are true, the test is a great boon to the city, as the tuberculin at the city's Tuberculosis hospital at Otisville, or the Riverside hospital on North Brother island in the East river.

The board of health's sanction has been withheld, was granted after the visiting Berlin physician submitted to the board a mass containing a culture of the bacilli. Dr. Ernst J. Lederer, commissioner of health, said that his department will test the culture on animals.

Dr. Friedman has been barred from making general use of his discovery because he has no state license as a practicing physician. The granting of the health authorities now gives any city hospital the privilege of making the German scholar a resident physician on his staff. The New York Medical society, which protested against

PRESIDENT TAFT SMILED AND WISHED THE NEW EXECUTIVE BEST OF LUCK—NEW PRESIDENT HAPPY

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Taft smiled and wished the new executive the best of luck. They shook hands cordially and then posed for the pictures before a battery of a dozen cameras. Mr. Taft was all smiles, while Mr. Wilson was much more sedate.

That would make the former an ex-president and the other President Wilson. If anything, Mr. Taft seemed the more pleased at the situation.

WOMAN FELL 3 STORIES

Margaret Garthard, was severely injured in a fall at 597 School street yesterday. Just how the accident occurred could not be ascertained but the person who summoned the ambulance. It is said, stated that the woman had fallen a distance of three stories from a window in the house. Considering that her injuries are supposed to be confined to a fracture of the right ankle, a fractured nose and severe scalp wounds (together with other cuts and bruises), her escape would have been remarkable had this been the case. She was taken in the ambulance to the Lowell hospital where she received treatment.

MRS. PANKHURST QUILTS

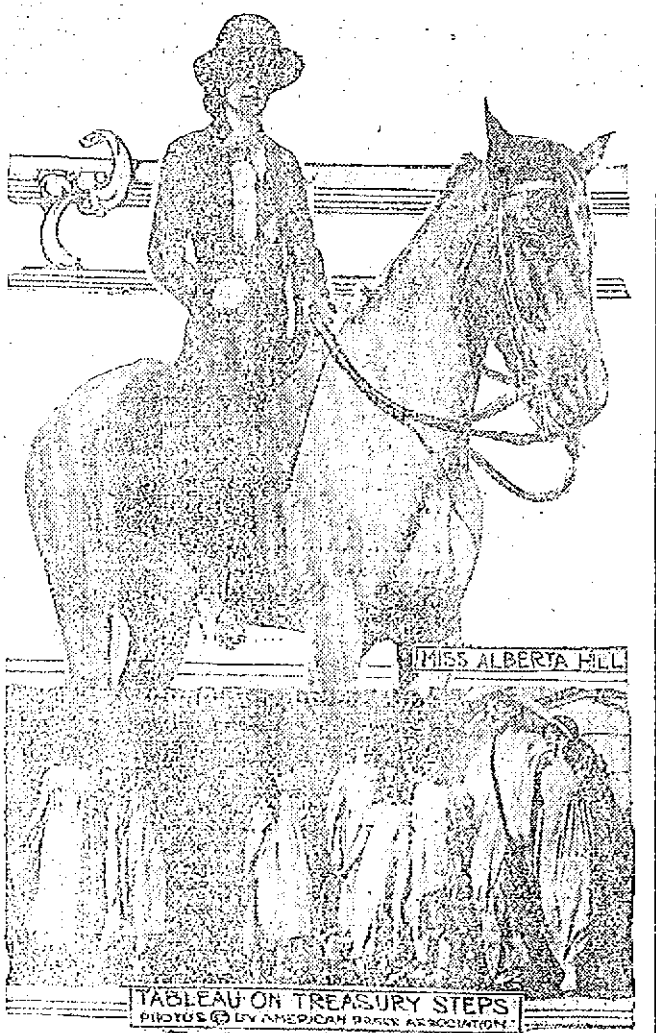

Leaves Suffragettes—A Riotous Meeting

LONDON, March 6.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader of the suffragettes, has broken down completely. She has cancelled all her engagements and has gone to Paris for rest. This announcement was made at a surprise meeting at the Hampstead last night, where Mrs. Pankhurst was scheduled to speak. "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond took her place.

Meeting in Riot
Mrs. Drummond, no longer known talking to a group of students in loose quantities of smoke, during the meeting, a fight broke out between the students and the suffragettes. Clubs were broken, blows were exchanged and black eyes and bruises were plentiful.

During a full in the disorder, Mrs. Drummond advised that the municipal electors to vote against the London county council proposal to erect a statue as a protest against the execution of the Rt. Hon. John Burns, president of the local government board, who has been denounced by anti-socialists as a tyrant and a defiler of the British constitution.

WOMEN TO SEE PRESIDENT CONCERNING ATTACK ON PARADE

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Wilson will be called on to take some action on the parade of the women suffragists, which was held yesterday and which was a riotous affair. The parade was held in the city of Washington and was a riotous affair. The parade was held in the city of Washington and was a riotous affair. THE SUN'S EXCLUSIVE STORY

Of New Union Depot and Big Automobile Factory the Talk of the Town

The Sun's big scoop of Tuesday on the plans now being perfected by the Boston & Maine and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads for a four track system through Lowell and the erection of a union depot at Washington park near the junction of Middlesex and Branch streets, and the building of an immense factory for the manufacture of automobiles at Tower's corner together with the occupancy of the old Boston & Maine depot at the corner of Central and Green streets for offices, storage and shipping, is the talk of the town.

Business men, professional men and others were intensely interested in the story and a man who has some knowledge of the development of the plans called at The Sun office yesterday to talk the matter over. He said he knew that the railroads had been working on plans along the lines mentioned in the story and he had heard, he said, that the plans were about ready to be submitted to the city.

The caller also mentioned the name of a prominent real estate dealer who was endeavoring to get option on land required by the railroads in their proposed scheme.

He had some knowledge, too, of the coming of the automobile plant and he had heard only a day or two ago that arrangements had been perfected, the new company having obtained options on a great deal of the private property in the square bounded by Central, Third, Green and Warren streets.

City Engineer Kearney stated yesterday that he knew the railroads were preparing plans having to do with the Middlesex street crossing and he had heard that they had abandoned their original plans for a grade crossing at that point. "I know," he said, "that their engineers have been making surveys and soundings in the vicinity of the St. James hotel and the Davis & Sargent lumber yards, as was stated in The Sun's story of yesterday, and I think the plan is outlined in The Sun is a very plausible one. Of course we will not have any means of knowing anything about the details until the railroads have submitted their plans to the city. Then the matter will go to the railroad commissioners and the railroads, state and city, will be represented at the hearings. I had also heard some talking of the coming of the new automobile industry."

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD McLEAN AND THEIR $100,000,000 BABY

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean (photograph copyright by Clinedinst) and Their "$100,000,000 Baby," Vinson Walsh McLean.

Well start by admitting that you are not a millionaire. After that, unless the present plans are changed, the negro boy will be the white boy's valet. In the meantime the little chaps will eat at the same table, dress alike and play together.

The McLean idea about the baby is to give him a companion who will neither look on him with aversion or servility, as a playmate from a poorer family might do, or teach him the vulgar tricks which another very wealthy companion might impart. Vinson's parents think they have hit upon a solution of the problem by providing their son with a negro playmate, according to the old southern custom of giving to the white boy a young negro boy companion of equal age to be a lifelong associate for him.

It has not been stated whether they will study the same things, but the presumption is, of course, that the negro lad will not have the same educational advantages as the child of a millionaire parents. It has been asserted that young Vinson is being educated in the use of English, French, German, Spanish and Japanese, but he is only a little past three years of age—he was born on Dec. 15, 1909—the assertion is, however, with rather more than the usual grain of salt.

If the little boy is brought up, as many rich children are, his father's reason, he will see none but servants until his mental habits are formed, and he will regard himself as superior to poorer folk. If, on the other hand, he is brought up in simple surroundings, he will grow up without the stunted spoons in their mouths he will have to meet all the temptations of a vast wealth without preparation when he comes into his own. The sources of these riches are manifold. Grandfather Walsh owned the Camp Bird mine in Colorado, which did not seem to him a source of wealth, but which spread business interests and gold all over the world. The Washington Post and Enquirer and the Washington Post and Enquirer has other properties which produce an ever-growing income.

REBELS ATTACK REPAIR TRAIN

Force Was Routed by Federal Troops—Rebels Suffer Heavy Losses

MEXICO CITY, March 6.—A force of rebels under Alberto Gudiño, a commander of rural guards, who revolted against the Huerta administration in the state of Coahuila, was routed with heavy losses by federal troops yesterday near Parras in the state of Coahuila. The battle occurred when the rebels attacked a repair train which was proceeding from Torreón to Saltillo, the capital, under the escort of a strong body of troops belonging to the army of General Tracy Aubert. The federalists detained and repulsed the rebels after a very sharp fight.

The governor of the state of Campeche, Manuel Castilla Brito, is reported to have fled from his post and to be on the way to Havana, where it was his intention to join the members of the Madero family. It is said that he feared an investigation of his record as charges of misappropriation of state funds had been lodged against him.

The governor of the state of Oaxaca reported to Provisional President Huerta today that with one exception all the rebel leaders in that state had been pacified.

MADAM! IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

WASTE-CLOGGED BOWELS, TORPID LIVER AND DECAYING FOOD IN STOMACH CAUSE THE SICK HEADACHE, GAS, BACKACHE, SALLOWNESS, BILIOUSNESS AND INDIGESTION

All women get bilious, headache and constipated—simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. Those are nature's ways of keeping the liver and thirty feet of bowels active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, Fruity Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all bills of women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, bilious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion, nervousness and depression. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonsful of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this tonight—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the sour bills, clogged-up waste and poisonous matter have been gently but thoroughly moved on and out of your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion clear, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches.

It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowels clean and regular. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best. But get the genuine—the old reliable. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrups sometimes substituted to fool you. The true, genuine, bears the name of California Fig Syrup Company; look for this on the label.

FINANCE COMMISSIONER

Issues First Month of Year Statement

CITY'S DISTANCE FROM DEBT LIMIT IS $344,784.27

Comparative Statement of Department's Expenses for the Years 1911 and 1912

The report of the commissioner of finance for the month of January has been received from the printer and is ready for distribution at the office of the commissioner at city hall.

The report shows that the total city debt, January 1, 1913, was $4,328,576.60 and deducting from that amount the sum of $2,623,850, representing water loans, temporary tax loan, etc., leaves $1,704,726.60 the city debt as it relates to the limit of indebtedness.

The limit of the municipal debt for 1913, 2½ per cent. of the average valuation for the past three years, is $2,049,569.57, and deducting from that the city debt as it relates to the limit of—indebtedness, $1,704,726.60, gives $344,784.27 as the city's distance from the debt limit, January 1, 1913.

The payments to be made on the city debt during the year aggregate $303,215.70 and the total borrowing limit for the year 1913 is $647,999.97. The cash balance January 31, 1913, was $234,270.93.

Included in the reports are comparative statements of grand total expenditures by the following departments for the years 1911 and 1912: Department of streets and highways, department of water works and fire protection, department of public property and licenses and the school department with a report of the total expenditures of the water department for 1911 and 1912. The Statement Not Complete

Asked why he did not include a comparison of the mayor's department and the department of the commissioner of finance for 1911 and 1912 in his report, Commissioner Brown said: "I was only interested in showing the departments that make permanent improvements; the departments that are doing public work all the time."

"Don't you think you ought to have included those departments in order to complete your report?"

"I did not leave them out for any reason that might be guessed at. I have never been asked for figures having to do with the mayor's department or the department of finance. They are not active departments to the extent of making public improvements or doing public work."

"They have appropriations and spend them. The public would probably like to know how these two departments managed in 1912 as compared with 1911," he replied.

"Well, if I had included figures having to do with those two departments I would have had to add two extra leaves to the report. I will give the figures for these departments next month."

C. H. MILLER SHOT SELF

Climbed Into Tower of Boston Bridge

BOSTON, March 6.—Charles H. Miller, whose home is believed to be at Woonsocket, R. I., climbed into a tower on the Cambridge side of the new West Boston bridge and shot himself today. The sound of the shot attracted the attention of passersby who discovered the body. The man's identity was learned from papers on the body, which also indicated that he was a Knight Templar and a member of Palestine commandery of Providence.

James Wilson's Last Act

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The last act of James Wilson as secretary of agriculture was to reinstate C. G. Elliott as chief engineer of drainage investigations in the department of agriculture. Mr. Elliott was dismissed by Secretary Wilson for his attitude in the department of agriculture's connection with the Florida Everglades investigation. A congressional committee vindicated him.

Prizes for Cleanliness

NEW YORK, March 6.—Prizes for cleanliness have worked wonders among the attendants of the West Side mission, according to the Rev. Daniel K. Ford, who is in charge of the mission. In order to impress them with the necessity for bathing, Rev. Mr. Ford frequently told them that the application of water to the skin was conducive to health and beauty and more beneficial than the sewing classes of industrial schools. The lectures did not accomplish all that was desired and then hair ribbons were offered as prizes with far better effect.

MRS. WILSON WILL MAKE HER DEBUT AS FIRST LADY OF THE LAND TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson tonight will make her debut in the role of first lady of the land as the patroness of a semi-public meeting. As honorary chairman of the Women's National Democratic league she will attend a lecture at the league headquarters to be given by Dr. J. Holmes, director of the bureau of mines. Dr. Holmes will discuss the question of the safety devices for the conservation of life and the scientific construction of mines.

MRS. WILSON SAW WORKMEN TEAR DOWN STAND IN WHICH HE REVIEWED PARADE

WASHINGTON, March 6.—When President Wilson awakened this morning he saw the beginning of the passing of the inauguration glory, for a small army of workmen shortly after daylight had begun to tear down the court of honor immediately in front of the White House and from a stand in which the president had reviewed the marching thousands of Tuesday. Although the street cleaners worked continuously yesterday the task of removing the evidences of the celebration was so great that virtually only Pennsylvania avenue was groomed. The other street will be given attention today.

When the myriad of lights on Pennsylvania avenue are extinguished tonight the last evidences of the inauguration virtually will have passed. It was decided to illuminate the avenue this evening for the benefit of the remaining visitors. As soon as the lights are extinguished the work of removing the strands of incandescent bulbs will begin although the Washington chamber of commerce has inaugurated a movement which would retain the lighting effects and make them a permanent feature.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S SECOND DAY FOUND LONG ENGAGEMENT LIST

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Wilson's second day in the White House found a long engagement list awaiting his attention. Baron Chinda, Japanese ambassador, the first representative of a foreign power to be received formally, came early bearing the congratulations of the Japanese emperor to Mr. Wilson. The reception was in the blue room with all the ceremony that accompanies the visit of an ambassador to a president. Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain met President Wilson informally yesterday. Augustus Thomas and Frederick C. Penfield, who are being mentioned as likely to become ambassadors to European courts had engagements at the White House later in the day.

OFFICE SEEKERS WHO ARRIVED IN WASHINGTON ARE BEHIND IN THEIR FATE

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Office-seekers have discovered that the political plum tree of 1913 bore little fruit, having suffered from the light of extended civil service rules and the added requisite of familiarity with the complications existing in government departments. In consequence scores of disappointed job hunters are cooling their heels in the hotels of the capital and bemoaning their fate.

To these unfortunate ones who expected to find personally through the incoming administration, President Wilson's statement of yesterday came as a further shock. The president's determination not to treat office-seekers as a class but to select his staff from the best of the service has been a virtual closure of the main avenue to the goal of official position.

A further complication is found in the basis of the President's appointments being new in their positions are evincing no haste in making changes in the staffs over which they preside.

SEC. GARRISON ORDERED MAJOR GEN. WOOD TO CONTINUE UNDER ORIGINAL DESIGNATION

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Secretary of War Garrison today ordered Major General Leonard Wood to continue under his original designation as chief of staff of the army until further orders. The purpose of Secretary Garrison's action is to enable President Wilson to have time fully to consider the question of a permanent designation.

CONGRATULATORY LETTERS FROM KINGS, EMPERORS, AND PRESIDENTS RECEIVED

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Congratulatory telegrams and letters poured into the White House today from all over the world. They came from kings, emperors and presidents of foreign republics and included also communications from proud fathers and mothers who announced the birth on March 4 of sons who are to be named Woodrow Wilson.

DANDRUFF

An Easy Task to Cure it When You Know How

There are three kinds of dandruff cures: Good dandruff cures. Bad dandruff cures. And plain liquid junk. The first is good to put on the head; the second is good to keep off the head; and the third is good to flush out the sewer.

The owner of good dandruff cures say our remedy will cure you in two weeks or money. The owner of bad dandruff cures guarantee nothing, but spend their money howling fake at the good dandruff cures, which policy they consider is a clever method of enticing the shakels from the unwary.

Parlan Sage is a good dandruff cure. It is guaranteed by Carter & Sharburn to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

It kills the dandruff microbes, it promotes a new growth of hair, it makes hair soft and luxuriant, and is without doubt the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing made today.

To every reader of The Lowell Sun, both men and women, we want to say these few words: If you have tried other dandruff cures, hair restorers, and have failed to receive any benefit from them, don't give up hope, try Parlan Sage.

A large bottle costs 50 cents with a money back guarantee to do as advertised. Sold at drug stores and toilet goods counters everywhere.

SAYS WIFE GAVE HIM BLACK EYE

Husband's Sister Testifies at the Webber Divorce Case Hearing in Boston

BOSTON, March 6.—Mrs. Mabel A. Kelher of Prescott street, Somerville, a sister of Samuel N. Webber of Cambridge, who is contesting the divorce action of his wife, Gertrude, told Judge Hitchcock, in the East Cambridge divorce court yesterday, that she had suggested to Mrs. Webber to drop the whole matter for the sake of the couple's 16-year-old daughter, Viola, but that Mrs. Webber refused.

Mrs. Kelher testified that she had met Mrs. Webber at a hotel in this city within the past year and talked over the divorce proceedings and other matters, but denied that she had ever asked Mrs. Webber to drop the divorce action so that Mr. Webber might be helped in his suit for alienation of affections.

Druggist Named
Mrs. Webber brought the original libel alleging cruel and abusive treatment, failure to provide and statutory charges. Mr. Webber has also brought a libel and is contesting her suit. He claims that she has been guilty of misconduct.

Webber has sued Allen H. Adams, a Somerville druggist, for $20,000 for alienation of affections. At the hearing yesterday three detectives from a private agency in this city testified to trailing Mrs. Webber and seeing her meet a man and then both enter a down town hotel.

Gave Him Black Eye
Mrs. Kelher testified she had seen her brother with a black eye which he told her his wife had inflicted upon him and that later when she talked to her sister-in-law about it, Mrs. Webber had said to her that if Webber was going to hit her she was going to get hers in first.

She also told Judge Hitchcock that she had seen Mrs. Webber throw dishes on the door at the Webber home, but that she had never seen Webber strike his wife.

Beer Instead of Wine
Mrs. Kelher stated she had been told by Mrs. Webber of having an engagement with Adams and of visiting Adams' drug store on one occasion and of Adams handing Mrs. Webber a box of beer instead of wine.

They returned home and found that Mrs. Webber was disappointed because it did not contain wine.

Mrs. Kelher had told her, she testified, that she (Mrs. Webber) had met Adams at a hotel in this city and also in New Hampshire. Mrs. Kelher said that Adams had given her sister-in-law a $10 gold piece, dress goods, an umbrella, magazines, and theatre tickets.

Heard Talk About Knife
William Eggee of School street, Somerville, a former neighbor of the Webbers when they resided on Hawthorne street, Somerville, told of frequent quarrels that he had heard between Mr. and Mrs. Webber and of hearing Mrs. Webber say to her husband, "I'll get you yet, I'll down you," and on another occasion of hearing Webber say to his wife, "put down that knife." He testified that he had also seen Mrs. Webber ransacking a large box containing her husband's personal effects.

Allen H. Adams, the Somerville druggist named by Webber, was the last witness. He denied any misconduct with Mrs. Webber, or of giving her the presents testified to and denied that he had ever visited any Boston hotel or elsewhere with her. He admitted knowing her, meeting her in a business capacity and of being friendly with her. Judge Hitchcock will hear her arguments on the case today.

ton Holbrook, a real estate dealer owning much property in the neighborhood, who claimed that the neighborhood was strongly opposed to the sale of any property to colored persons, and that the advertisement was a "spite sign" erected because of a quarrel with neighbors.

The night before the decision was handed down upholding Mrs. Morrison's right to display the sign, the sign itself, which has been the cause of nearly a year's litigation in the supreme court, disappeared. Mrs. Morrison claims it was removed by neighbors. Mr. Holbrook said yesterday he believed it had been blown away by the wind.

It will be replaced, however, by a new sign, larger than the first, and bearing the same words against which Mr. Holbrook sought to obtain an injunction. The words are as follows:

"For sale: best offer from colored family."

Following the announcement of the decision, Mrs. Morrison said that she had a very attractive offer from a colored family, and that she thought it likely she would close the deal within a few weeks.

It was claimed by Holbrook that the sign was put up not for the purpose of selling the property, but to satisfy a quarrel of long standing between Mrs. Morrison and her neighbors, the family of James H. Lynch, which occupies an adjoining house.

A law suit for damages is pending between the two families for alleged injuries inflicted by Mrs. Morrison on the young child of the Lynch family, at the time when the child trespassed into Mrs. Morrison's garden, and was led out by the owner.

Illustrated Lecture
The fourth lecture of the free course given by the People's club to the residents of this city in its rooms in Faneuil hall building was given last night before a very large audience.

The speaker was Arthur K. Peck, whose subject was "From the Azores to the Bay of Naples." The lecture was illustrated with beautiful views of the European country and proved most interesting.

The views on land and sea were all as delicately tinted as though taken by some highly perfected process which could photograph all the range of colors and thus be found in nature.

Mr. Peck, who is a very interesting speaker here a good description of the country shown in the pictures, and his talk was immensely appreciated and enjoyed by all who heard it.

DARING HOLDUP IN SO. STATION ANNA GOULD APPEALS

Paymaster, With $900 in Office, Was Menaced by Negro With Pistol

BOSTON, March 5.—Paymaster Warner A. Holt of the Boston & Albany railroad was held up at the point of a revolver in his office at the South station yesterday afternoon just before closing time by a colored man, who was frightened away by cries for help and arrival of assistance.

Braved Pistol
Paymaster Holt, with the muzzle of the revolver a yard from his face, courted death but saved his cash when he yelled for assistance.

The robber, believed to be a former Pullman porter, made his escape. The holdup was one of unusual daring. In one of the myriad of offices, room 317, on the third floor of the station, with hundreds of people within easy call, the colored man attempted his robbery.

Opening the door without hesitation, the man, described as six feet in height and of athletic build and small mustache, walked over to the paymaster's office. He shoved a revolver through the opening and ordered Holt to throw up his hands. The paymaster obeyed but screamed lustily for help at the same time, although expecting to see the hammer of the gun fall any second.

Two messenger boys, who happened to be in the corridor adjacent, hearing the cries, beat a retreat at the same time continuing the warning in lusty response to that of the paymaster.

Unked Out
Without lowering his revolver the hold-up man stepped to the door, saw the messenger boys scurrying along and then decided it was time for him also to run.

Frank McDermott, employed in one of the nearby offices, also came to the scene, but the colored man was in flight. McDermott also spread the alarm.

By this time a large number of the employees began to arrive from many offices, and hearing of the escapade in the pursuit of the would-be robber, who was heading down the back stairs with his revolver still in his hand.

The crowd and the commotion, however, aided the man in making his escape. Once outside the office section of the building he mixed with the usual early evening commuters, and from the station his movements could not be traced.

MONUMENTS SMASHED
Vandal at Gettysburg Battlefield

GETTYSBURG, Pa., March 6.—Eight monuments on the Gettysburg battlefield were seriously damaged by a vandal who evidently used a heavy hammer for his destructive work. The monuments which suffered were the Fifth Corps headquarters; Forty-ninth and Ninety-sixth Pennsylvania; Fortieth New York; Grant's Vermont brigade; Sixth Maine; Fifth Wisconsin, and Thirtieth Massachusetts.

Large pieces of granite were chipped off of prominent parts of all the memorials, while on the Ninety-sixth Pennsylvania and Fortieth New York, statues of soldiers had parts of the faces knocked off, guns smashed, and portions of the body broken. On the Grant Vermont brigade memorial, a large granite lion was badly defaced by the breaking off of the lower jaw.

The Castellane Annulment Decision

ROME, March 6.—The decision rendered by the papal tribunal of Rota favorable to the annulment of the marriage of Count Boni de Castellane and Miss Anna Gould, now the Duchess de Talleryand, is not final. According to the ecclesiastical law two decisions are necessary for a definite verdict. In the Castellane-Gould case the first decision was against annulment and the second in favor of it.

The Duchess de Talleryand has appeared against the latest verdict of the Rota tribunal in order to protect her children and the settlement of the appeal will constitute the final verdict with respect to the annulment of the marriage.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Miss D. M. Gille
"The best groomed leaders of fashion have abandoned the use of face powder. They rely upon a complexion beautifier, the secret of which is not common property. Just apply to the face, neck and arms a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. This will do wonders in making the skin smooth, clear and satiny."

"Falling hair and baldness are caused by vegetable parasites, the result of an unclean scalp, and are easily converted from one person to another. Mother's shampoo is a scientific formula that directly attacks these parasites. A package containing ten shampoos can be had at any druggist for 25 cents. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, pour on the head, wash and thoroughly rinse."

"Eyebrows and lashes deserve attention. If they are thin and straggly, massage them daily with pyroxin, and the eyebrows will grow even and regular in well formed arches, while the lashes will be long and thick."

"Wild hairs and fuzzy growths that cause many women humiliation can be painlessly removed by one application of delatone. Make a paste with a little delatone and water, apply and wash skin and the hairs are gone."

"Mother's Salve quickly heals sores, cuts, and burns, without leaving a scar. It is cooling, soothing and comforting, and gives almost instant relief. It is fine for the removal of certain kinds of eczema, pimples and skin eruptions."

"A Vaseline treatment for rounding out the bust that seldom fails can be prepared in the privacy of the home by making a syrup with 1 1/2 cupsful of sugar and a pint of water, to which is added one ounce of gelatin. The dose is two teaspoonfuls before meals."

PATTERSON RUBBER COMPANY

Will Open Its Plant in Middlesex Street About the Middle of April

Work at the Patterson Rubber Co. in Middlesex street is progressing rapidly and it is expected that the plant will be running full force by the middle of April. The main building is almost completed and a shift of men are now busy installing engines and other apparatus for the equipment of the plant.

The main building which was constructed of brick is 235 ft. by 65 ft. and four stories high. It is a fine structure and so constructed that light and air will be plentiful. The only work to be done on the exterior of the building is to the roof, and that is nearly completed.

The power will consist of steam and electricity and the foundations for the engines are being put in and it is expected the two large engines will be installed some time next week.

The company has also constructed a water tower with a capacity of 50,000 gallons. It is 150 feet high and was built of steel. The water to be used will be taken partly from the city's supply and partly from the river which is nearby.

The two tanks for storing gasoline have also arrived and in a few days they will be placed underground. The capacity of these two large boilers as they could be called by 12,000 gallons.

The officials of the company who were occupying an office in the Central building have removed to their permanent office near the plant, which has just been completed. This consists of a large wooden building with all the equipment necessary for a modern business office.

One of the officials of the company in conversation with the writer this morning stated that he believed the plant will be started by the middle of April, and at the outbreak about 150 persons will be employed, two to consist of men and women. Skilled help will be hired as much as possible, but unskilled men and women will also be shown the work. The company will want good reliable help, and will pay good wages.

WOMEN COLLAPSE IN COURT ROOM

Unprecedented Scene at Russell Case Hearing—"Fresno Dan" on Witness Stand

BOSTON, March 6.—Two women, one fainting and another nearly collapsed, while more than 100 women were fighting for entrance to the Suffolk superior courtroom yesterday afternoon, where the Russell identity case is being heard.

In the crowd which fought for nearly five minutes to gain the coveted goal, the inner door of room 277, where the Russell identity case is being heard, the Russell identity case is being heard.

Only 100 Admitted
Since Monday, when the court room was crowded to its utmost capacity with at least two score spectators standing in the passageways and the entrance and on the stairs, orders have been given to admit only as many as may find seats, 100.

Long before the hour for the opening of the doors yesterday afternoon fully 150 people, mostly women, had gathered outside the entrance to the court room ready to make a rush for the choice seats.

Many of the women had been present at the morning session, had brought their lunches with them and remained in the corridors of the court house during the noon recess in order to secure vantage points when Court Officer Harry Walker swung open the doors at 1:30 o'clock.

Although Officer Walker is no small man, tipping the scales in the vicinity of 250 pounds, he was fairly swept off his feet by the onrush when he unlocked the doors.

The small areaway from the outer corridor of the court house to the court room, measuring about 12 by 14 feet, was packed almost to suffocation by women frantic in their endeavors to gain admittance, and they were flanked by nearly 100 more fighting for positions in the corridor.

Uninjured in Court House
Suffolk county court officers declared they had never seen anything of the kind in the court house before.

During the rush two women fainted, but immediately revived on being dragged into the corridor. Miss Hattie Kelch, self admitted sweetheart of Daniel Blake Russell, whom she says is the Dakota claimant, all but collapsed before she finally reached the interior of the room.

A score more people than could be seated finally gained admittance to the room before the court officers could get control of the crowd, and about a dozen of those rushed for seats on the platform of the rear tier of the two jury boxes, sitting between the feet of those who had secured the chairs on the eight-inch high platform.

After the room had been cleared of those who were standing, fully 25 women remained standing in the area throughout the session, peering in through the closed glass doors, catching only now and then a word or two as the doors were swung open to allow a court officer or a newspaper man to enter or leave.

Fresno Dan on Stand
Attorney Scharton had Fresno Dan on the stand throughout the day, cross-examining him mostly as to his early life in Fresno and succeeded in getting from him denial of several instances testified to by some of the respondents own witnesses as to their relations toward and knowledge of Daniel Blake Russell.

After Attorney Scharton concludes his cross-examination of Fresno Dan, the respondents will conclude their case.

Two Hurt in Runaway

One Man Suffered Fracture of Skull Yesterday

James Tsouprakakis, of 15 Cabot street is in a serious condition at St. John's hospital suffering with a fractured skull which he sustained in the runaway accident, an account of which appeared in last evening's Sun.

The other man who was injured was Vasilius Maroulis, of 537 Market street, and he sustained a broken nose and several body bruises. The runaway was the most sensational that has taken place here for some time.

What the exact cause of the runaway was is not known but the previous owner of the animal offers the explanation that as the horse was broken to a buggy and was hitched yesterday to the delivery wagon, the change of vehicles may have been the cause of his flight. On no former occasion has he been known to be unsafe, and it is thought that he was shot of signs of fear of automobiles or cars.

There were four occupants of the wagon when it rounded the corner of Central and Middlesex streets and the horse began to rear and plunge about the road. The victims of the accident occupied the seat and Tsouprakakis was driving. In the rear were two boys. Without warning the horse made a wild dash down Central street tearing madly across the street in his flight.

Near the Appleton bank, the wagon collided with a post and the driver was thrown from his seat, striking his head against the post and fracturing his skull. The horse continued at increased speed until near the junction of Central and Prescott streets, it figured in a second collision, this time striking a buggy and throwing the second man to the street. He was picked up unconscious and rushed to the office of a doctor in the Central block. Later he was taken in the ambulance to St. John's hospital together with his companion. The boys managed to jump from the team and so escape injury, one of them, however, falling to the street and sustaining minor cuts and bruises.

In close proximity to the vehicle was an automobile owned by Peter Domohue and driven by his chauffeur, who put the machine on high speed in his effort to get out of the way of the runaway horse. For a short space it was a neck and neck race between the two conveyances until the auto quickly outdistanced the horse, and reached a place of safety.

The animal was caught near city hall and appeared none the worse for his mad dash. With the exception of a few boards missing from the body of the wagon, it was not damaged to any extent. The horse allowed himself to be led quickly back to Central street where he was taken in charge by those in authority.

This morning the hospital authorities stated that Tsouprakakis, though suffering from a fracture of the skull, is conscious and has a good chance for recovery. He was resting quietly as could be expected of a man in his condition. Maroulis left the hospital last evening and went to his home. He is employed in one of the local mills. Tsouprakakis is by trade a shoemaker and is employed in a Market street establishment. It is said that the two men are the owners of a small farm near Lowell and intended selling the produce of the place.

This Shampoo Helps to Dry the Hair

"It may sound paradoxical to say that shampooing helps dry the hair," writes Mae Marlyn, in the Los Angeles Post, "but it is a fact that women using canthrox in cleansing the hair and scalp find their tresses dry quicker than when shampoo mixtures are used. Aside from this, it leaves the scalp in a vigorous condition and gives the hair its natural glossy appearance."

"Next time you wash your head try this simple recipe: Dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a teaspoon of hot water. Pour on the head and rub briskly until the scalp is thoroughly massaged, then rinse well."

"Canthrox costs but a trifle, but the only certain way to get it pure is to buy an original package."

met with death in the frozen south polar regions while members of the Australian Antarctic expedition, were told in a wireless telegraph message received here yesterday from Dr. Douglas Mawson, the leader of the expedition, who also suffered great hardship.

The wireless message received from Dr. Mawson, who is now in Adelle Land, says:

"On Dec. 4, 1911, while we were exploring a new coast line 300 miles to the southeast of our winter quarters, Lieutenant Ninnis, with a dog team and with almost all our food, disappeared in an unfathomable crevasse."

"Dr. Mertz and myself, with an inadequate supply of provision and with six starving dogs then started over the plateau for our hut. Bad weather retarded our progress and we subsisted chiefly on dogs."

"On Jan. 17, 1912, Dr. Mertz died, the cause of his death arising from malnutrition."

"On Feb. 7 I arrived at the hut alone, having travelled through snow and fog and having miraculously been guided by Providence through the heavily crevassed areas."

"The steamer Aurora waited at the base until the weather conditions made it no longer safe. She left a few hours before my arrival at the hut. Six men were left there by the Aurora to prosecute a search for the members of our party."

LIKE A MONKEY CAGE

Vice-President Marshall Demands New Room

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Hundreds of inaugural visitors who thronged into Vice President Marshall's office yesterday so disturbed the equilibrium of the vice president's first day of official duties that he has determined to ask for a new room over in the senate office building where he can "put his feet on the desk and smoke a cigar in peace."

The vice president's single office room adjoins one of the main corridors near the senate, and through long custom its door remains open to the public.

Mr. Marshall, early at his desk, found that he had to do business in the full view of the passing crowds, which frequently surged in and demanded the visitor's prerogative of shaking hands.

"I don't see that this room differs much from a monkey cage," said the vice president during a lull in the constant reception, "except that the visitors do not offer me any peanuts."

The vice president managed to maintain his dignity throughout the day, but he confessed to friends that he was determined to get a "retiring room," where he could drop his official pose and enjoy a little privacy.

Another change that will be necessary in senate accommodations to meet the demands of the newcomers is the providing of a special chair for Senator Otis M. James of Kentucky, who enjoys the distinction of being the tallest man in the senate. Mr. James found the arm chairs used by other senators "crowded him too much."

Senator Penrose, the other giant of the senate, has a special size chair, and a new one of the same dimensions has been ordered for Senator James.

MAY DESTROY BALLOT PAPERS

The Suffragettes Make Serious Threat in Triennial London Election

LONDON, March 6.—The keenest interest on municipal issues at stake but hottest was taken in the ninth triennial election for the members of the London county council today, not only because of the sharply divided opposition on municipal issues at stake but because of threats of militant suffragettes to destroy the ballot papers. Special precautions were taken by the police to prevent any interference with the ballot boxes by the women, many of whom are entitled to vote at municipal elections. The apertures through which the voting papers are dropped into the boxes were made narrower, while policemen were posted to keep a sharp lookout on every woman entering the polling booth.

The pre-election campaign had been a very spirited one, many of the members of the cabinet having taken a prominent part on behalf of the progressive candidates. While the suffragists did not take a very active part in the fight they advised all women voters to vote against the progressives owing to their having the support of a government which had refused to enfranchise women for parliamentary elections.

The progressive candidates responded by telegraphing to thousands of electors at the last moment and exhorting them to vote the progressive ticket. It was anticipated that the poll would be a very close one.

Live Bits of Sport

The present legislature has placed Colorado in the list of states favorable to boxing under the proper restrictions. The Denver club has written Jimmy Gardner, the local boxer who attained premier honors in both lightweight and welterweight classes, to come out and make his boxing exhibitions. Jimmy, however, prefers his native spot to begin with and also considers the club here as too tempting to leave. His decision to remain is greatly appreciated by the members of the local club.

Lowell high has two more track meets on her schedule for the indoor season of this year. On Saturday next the local team will meet the East English high team of Boston and a slashing good meet is looked for. Lowell is picked to win, although the boys from the Hub are credited with being the best team in the Greater Boston League. However, the big colored performer is their mainstay, and is expected to come through with a win in the 200 yard dash and the 50 yard sprint as well as running anchor on the relay team. Notice the phrase used—"is expected to."

Papke must have felt that everything was going against him yesterday in his clash with Klaus over in Paris or he would not have fouled so frequently. His fouling in particular, and the contest to the Pittsburgh bearcat, Klaus was always a terrible hitting machine and a few of those pet body blows of his are enough to make any man think that a few minutes' intermission for refreshments would be in order.

Maranville, the diminutive former shortstop of the New Bedford baseball club, is putting up a great game in the Boston Nationals early training camp. His hitting is particularly eye-catching and is causing much comment among the newspaper critics who are watching the work of the team. His main fault at the bat seems to be his tendency to pull away from a fast week.

HOW DUFFY BROKE IN DOHAN TO MEET RIVERS

Portland Manager Got After His Bout With Start in Lowell McDonough

Much Duffy's advent into organized baseball is interesting as well as peculiar. Duffy came to Lowell to serve as an understudy for a third baseman named Lowery from a hall club that had some bankruptcy about the time that Duffy struck Lowell the regular third baseman was taken ill and could not get into a uniform for a week. The present owner of the Portland club was immediately on his arrival in town, given a Lowell uniform and sent into the vacant infield position. That sickness was the worst thing that ever happened to the unfortunate regular for besides playing an errorless game in the field Duffy connected for three hits with a total of nine. Not only on the first day but throughout the week did the stocky utility-infielder dig up grounders and smash down fences with his vicious elbows. On the day that Lowery came back in uniform Duffy, out of four times at bat, made three home runs and a triple on the old Riverside ball grounds. The disgruntled Lowery called for his bat bag after the third home run of the latter's left and left the field. He had seen enough to show him that the green and red was an exceptionally brilliant ball player and with no adieux whatsoever called forth to seek a new job. Duffy played a wonderful game for Lowell that year and before the season was half over several of the big league magnates were angling for him. Tim Murray, now president of the New England League, was the man who finally lured Duffy, but it cost him some money. Duffy pulled down $1500 for his first year's performance, a phenomenal figure for a youngster breaking into the big league ball in those days.

THE AJAX BOWLERS WON

Defeated Testers in Interesting Game

There were only three games reported from the local bowling allies last night. The Ajax bowlers were the winners in their match with the Testers in the Bohemia-Cartridge league. The game was very close, there being only 11 pins difference between the two teams when the last bow had been completed. Donohue of the Ajax team was high man with a mark of 274.

The shop team had an easy time with the Office team in their Saxo-Lowell league game last night. The former won the match by over 100 pins. Sharpe of the winners was high man with a total of 311.

Team Nine won from Team Eight in the game in the Crescent Two-Man league last night. Jewett's totals of 317 was high.

The games in detail are as follows:

Testers—Baker, 260; Bell, 245; Brown, 230; Carden, 243; Boyle, 253. Totals, 1233.

Ajax—Gleason, 250; Doyle, 244; Cullen, 220; Donohue, 274; Arnold, 256. Totals, 1244.

Shop—Sterling, 244; G. Grant, 293; Soule, 226; Blanchard, 258; Sharpe, 311. Totals, 1343.

Office—Parrell, 245; Hammond, 245; Bell, 242; Buckingham, 254; Baker, 253. Totals, 1247.

Team Eight—Conannon, 263; Maloney, 244. Totals, 507.

Team Nine—Jewett, 317; Kennedy, 274. Totals, 591.

close one but Stallings should remedy this defect before the season has progressed very far.

There is a strong possibility that Frank Chance will again be seen with a head bassman's mark on his head. Chances that he will have his head shaved have not returned since the operation that he underwent and now the whole situation rests with the Yankee manager's legs. If his underpinnings stand up all right Chance will be on the first sack when the umpire calls "play ball" in the opening game. "Huh," Chase has already demonstrated the fact that he can play the pivot bag with the best of them and is being kept there in expectation that the former Chicago player-manager will be able to play again this season.

According to dispatches from California, Jim Jeffries is again thinking about re-entering the ring. Tom Jones and the former champion's brother Jack are given credit for (or credit) for trying to coax the once great fighter back into the squared ring. Jeffries had his chance to come back and should realize after looking over the list that are competing today by an attempt to regain their former standing that it is well nigh an impossibility. Nelson and Wolcott are two striking examples of those who think that they can remain good forever and both have double the chance that the big bolder boxer would have. Jones and brother Jack must be looking for some soft commission money.

The meeting of the schedule committee, of which Manager Gray is a member, will probably conclude its business by the end of this week. They have been in session for two days now and the final arrangements for games usually covers a period of four or five days. Manager Gray will attempt to pull down as many Saturday games as possible as more local fans are able to witness a ball game on that day than on any other day during the week.

HOW DUFFY BROKE IN DOHAN TO MEET RIVERS

Portland Manager Got After His Bout With Start in Lowell McDonough

In order to keep faith with the Lowell club, Johnny Dohan had to cancel a match he had with Matty Baldwin for next Friday night. Dohan will meet Young McDonough in a return match of 12 rounds at Lowell tomorrow night, after which he expects to secure a match with Joe Rivers. The Brooklyn boxer was not showing surprisingly good form of late, and only last Saturday night impressively defeated Jack Lundy in a 10-round bout at the Irving A. C. Lundy is one of the best lightweights in New York and holds victories over some of the leading Gotham 125-pound boxers. Dohan has informed the Lowell club's match-maker that he will be in the Spindle City to fight on early tomorrow morning. He feels extremely confident that he will score a knockout victory over the Manchester boxer. McDonough, owing to his excellent exhibition against Gallant at Manchester last Tuesday night, feels that he is in trim to win from the New York boxer. Against Gallant, McDonough showed that he is an exceptionally clever boxer and invariably he ducked or side-stepped vicious swings by the Chelsea whirlwind. McDonough took a rest yesterday, and on Monday he will be in the ring to meet Dohan. He will arrive in Lowell tomorrow, and Lee and Young Morrison are in line for the number and Calahan and family are in line for the shirt-sleeved encounter and Young Conney and Kid George are anxiously awaiting the sound of the bell that will bring them together.

KLAUS GETS DECISION

Bout With Papke Stopped in 15th Round

PARIS, March 6.—Frank Klaus of Pittsburgh was awarded the decision over Billy Papke of Kewanee, Ill., in the 15th round of their contest at the Cirque de Paris last night. The bout was looked upon as practically deciding the world's middleweight championship.

Papke was repeatedly warned by the referee for breaches of the rules. His tactics became so flagrant that the referee stopped the bout in the 15th round. The general opinion was that Klaus had made a better showing throughout.

The fight was scheduled for 20 rounds at 160 pounds.

DIAMOND NOTES

Turner is one of the men on the Cleveland roster for whom a southpaw has no terrors. "I don't know why it is," says Terry when discussing the event, "but he seemed to be able to hit southpaws. Take it all around the circuit whenever our opponents put a left-hander in the box I feel just a little more confident in hitting him."

"Tuck" always liked to bat against Rube Waddell, when that lanky slasher was hurling his put slants for the Athletics. Terry would invariably have a good day at the bat when Rube was on the mound.

Abrer Potter, a pitching recruit of the Naps, has such large feet that baseball shoes could not be found at Persacola that would fit him. And a pair had to be made to order. Always looked by the umpires that he would have the occasion to use his shoes on them during the coming season.

Eddie Murphy is filling in at third base for the Athletics until Baker reports this week. Murphy is handling himself so well the infield that there is a chance he may be kept there as Baker's understudy.

Outfielder Birdie Cree of the New York Americans says he is in first-class physical trim, as far as soundness of limb goes.

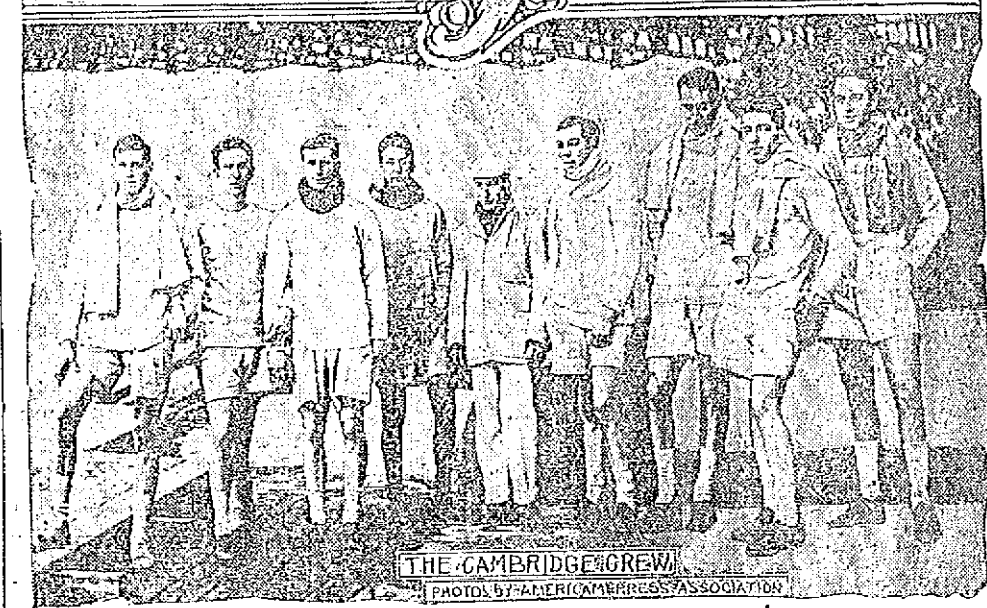

Tewksbury Grange

The Tewksbury grange conferred the first and second degrees on 12 candidates at its last meeting. The third and fourth degrees will be conferred March 17, when a ladies' degree staff will confer the third and the regular officers the fourth. Supper will also be served and the state inspector will be present.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE BOAT CREWS TO CLASH ON THE THAMES RIVER MARCH 15

THE OXFORD CREW

THE CAMBRIDGE CREW

LONDON, March 6.—The Oxford and Cambridge boat crews are training for their contest which will take place over the historic Thames river course March 15. The crews seem to be about evenly balanced, and picking the winner is more a matter of individual preference than judgment. In the last thirteen races Cambridge has won seven times, but Oxford has been the victor in the last four contests. By winning this year Oxford would make the races even for fourteen years. In its last four wins Oxford has never been more than six lengths ahead, and some contests have been won by as narrow margins as three lengths.

7000 GARMENT WORKERS IDLE

Boston Cloak Makers Union Declared a Strike—Workers Left Their Benches at Once

BOSTON, March 6.—The cloakmakers union declared a strike today. Many men left their benches at once. The cloakmakers are affiliated with the international garment workers union and their demands are similar to those made by the garment workers and the shirtwaist and dressmakers already out. There are about 3000 members in the cloakmakers union and it is estimated that half that number quit work upon the strike signal. They ask for a working week of 49 hours; a 15 per cent increase in wages; improved sanitary conditions in the shops and recognition of the union. The strikers on leaving their places of employment, which are scattered over a wide territory, gathered in Tremont street and marched to the union headquarters in the North End.

There was little trouble in the strike district this morning. One girl striker was arrested for loitering near the shops.

The police force was imposing officers being stationed at every few feet along the sidewalks. Crowds were kept moving and strikers as a rule made no protest.

TO SWIM THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

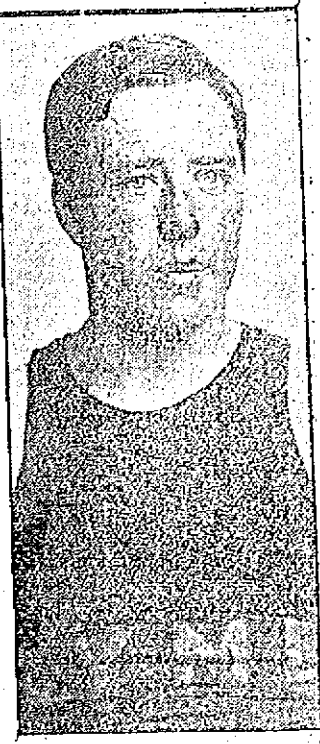

Henry Sullivan Will Attempt to Accomplish Great Feat

Henry F. Sullivan, the crack distance swimmer of this city, will attempt to swim the English channel in the late spring or early summer. This boy is touted by experts as one of the greatest distance swimmers that the game has ever produced. His long smooth undulating stroke and his wonderful stamina combine to make young Sullivan a marvel in the water.

The Lowell athlete will leave New York the first of May and will be accompanied by his father, Thomas L. Sullivan. The elder Sullivan is engaged in the shoe business in Centralville and is as well known among the local business men as his son is among the athletes of this city.

Sullivan is training daily at the C. Y. M. C. and goes to Brooklyn and Revere twice a week for work in the big indoor tanks at the gymnasiums. The tank at Revere is salt water so the Lowell swimmer will not be obliged to wait until summer to accustom himself to the heavier water of the ocean. Sullivan will start from Dover, England, the point which all the famous swimmers who have attempted this feat have chosen as the most advantageous for a start. Dr. William Crockett, the man who outlined the course in Boston Light for Rose Pitonoff, is training the Centralville boy and considers his chances of reaching the French coast very promising.

The Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, under whose colors Sullivan has always competed, will hold a dance at Associate hall to help defray the expenses of the trip across the water. Sullivan's first swim of note, although he has been in the water ever since he was old enough to learn how to swim, was his negotiation of the Merrimack river from Tyngsboro bridge to Pawtucket bridge three years ago. He completed the seven miles in the best of shape and put up a new record for the distance as well. The Lowell boy next went after Richard's record from Nahant to Revere a distance of 44 miles and succeeded in beating the Boston swimmer's best time by eight minutes in the fast time of 2 hours and 15 minutes. Last summer he finished second to Richards in the swim to Boston Light.

and did not seem to be greatly fatigued by his feat.

Sullivan is 5 feet 6½ inches in height and weighs 191 pounds. He is built along the lines most favored by swimming critics and is very light in the water. His most used stroke is the ordinary breast stroke and he rarely if ever changes his style except for the purpose of an occasional rest for his neck and shoulder muscles.

Besides his father it is expected that several friends will also accompany the local swimmer on his attempt at foreign conquest. Mr. Joseph L. Whidden of Quincy has positively declared himself as a member of the party and several others are sure to see Sullivan perform in English and French waters.

SMALL HANDS HANDICAP BALL PLAYERS BARRED

To the Successful Base Pres. Johnson to Stop Ball Players Baseball Scribes

It was the gamine size of his hands which kept Cy Seymour from being a great pitcher. When he first joined the New York Giants many years ago he came as a twirler, but he found the greatest difficulty in securing control of the ball, because his hands were so small that he could not get his fingers all the way around the sphere.

Cy was finally forced to give up pitching entirely and go to the outfield, where his hitting rather than his fielding kept him in the game for a long period of years.

Vincout Campbell, the fast center fielder of the Bostonians, has the same handicap as Seymour in regard to the size of his hands.

Campbell's mitts are far below the average in length and diameter, and the muffed flies which he is guilty of are the result of this physical handicap to a great extent. He is also not so good a thrower as he would be if his hands were a bit more bulky.

Campbell, however, played better ball last season than ever before, and President Gaffney of the Boston club believes that he is going to be a very valuable man for his club this season.

Vincout is a speed marvel, no one excelling him in getting down to first base. But he has two weak points in offensive work. He is a very poor waiter, and so does not get on nearly so well in the line of his work as he would if he could develop the habit of waiting to better advantage.

His great speed makes him a hard man to stop on the bases, but he is not on there so much as he would be if he could develop the habit of waiting to better advantage.

Campbell hits 15 points higher than Bescher, but the extra bases secured by the Red Sox were more valuable than the extra hits made by the Boston gardener.

Owing to his inability to wait, Campbell went to bat more times officially than any other player in the National League last year.

He was charged with 524 times at bat, and no other player reached the 600 mark, though 16 of them played in as many or more games than he did. This is a serious weakness in a lead-off man, who should be on base more often by the pass route. Campbell is in spite of his great speed, is not a very clever base runner.

While Bescher was stealing 67 bases last year Vincent was copying just 12, both men playing in exactly the same number of games.

If George Stallings can show Campbell a few things about waiting then Bescher, but the extra bases secured by the Red Sox were more valuable than the extra hits made by the Boston gardener.

The houses in question has been watched for some time by the local police and the suspicion that the opium traffic was being carried on was communicated to the inspectors in Boston. In the visit of the latter last evening, all the implements for the preparing of opium to be smoked were collected and other evidence gained. The place has been frequented by a clique of Chinese residents of Lowell for some time and in the previous raid, gambling apparatus of various descriptions was found and confiscated.

CHICAGO, March 5.—President Ban Johnson of the American League, is said to have a bomb ready for hurling into the ranks of ballplayer-scribes in his organization. It was learned last night that the league's executive was about to issue an edict which would either stop ball players from writing expert opinions for newspapers or stop their salaries.

"It is not the intention to infringe upon the rights of players," said Johnson, "but alleged expert criticism and ball playing do not mix. I would not mind so much if the players themselves wrote the stuff which appears in the newspapers throughout the land but in the great majority of cases the players never see stories to which their names are appended until after they have been printed."

"These writings frequently have been an injury to the league and if it can be done—and I think it can—no American league player will be allowed to write these criticisms in the near future."

"Most of the star ball players," penned a magazine writer the other day, "come from the corner lots of our big cities where they first began to play. They are big city products."

All of which may be true, provided the term "big city" is defined as meaning any old place that has at least 250 inhabitants, including cats and dogs. It was from such a city that Ty Cobb came; the busy and teeming metropolis of Boston, Ga.

Christie Mathewson, the wizard of the New York Giants, came from that congested center of population—Falmouth, Vt. Walter Johnson first played the national game on the corner lots of that swarming hive of humanity, Welles, Ida. Nap Rucker's success is due to the fact that he was born in that mighty Babylon of the nation, Alachua, Fla. Ed Walsh, Tim Lincecum, Clyde Milan, Ed Plank, Jeff Tesreau, Chief Meyers, Frank Baker, Charles Herzog and some scores of others who might be mentioned broke into the game from corner lots of huge cities that boasted of at least one general store and a postoffice.

A few others who started life in towns named if not really as big as those mentioned were Duffell, Chase, Doyle, Gregg and Wagner. Indeed, the small towns of less than twenty population should feel jealous of the big cities of 250 souls that have a monopoly of the "famous baseball talent."

Mrs. Moise Grenier of This City

Mrs. Moise Grenier of Moody street was all smiles this morning when she boarded the 10:40 o'clock train for the west, where she is to meet her husband, whom she has not seen nor heard from for the past three years. She is going to Superior, Wisconsin, where she will make her home with the man she loves, and when the train rolled along she bade farewell to a large number of her friends who had gathered to the station to see her off.

According to relatives of Mrs. Grenier, the latter who was formerly Miss Georgianna Laporte, was married to Moise Grenier four years ago here in Lowell. The young man at the time was employed in a local mill and was not fond of his work. A year after the marriage, he left without informing his better half as to where he was going, and no news has been received from him since until recently, when he wrote asking his wife to join him in the state of Wisconsin, where he

INVESTIGATE DISORDER

Special Committee Hears Testimony

WASHINGTON, March 6.—A small army of witnesses were ready to appear today before the special senate committee appointed to investigate the disorder and alleged lack of police protection attending the suffragist parade on last Monday. Senators Jones, Dillingham and Pomeroy are members of the committee and they announced that they proposed to go to the bottom of the matter. Among those who were prepared to appear was former Rep. John A. Martin of Colorado, whose term expired March 4 and who re-

Heartburn, Gas, Dyspepsia and All Stomach Distress Ended With "Pape's Diapiesin"

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

"Pape's Diapiesin" is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and rots and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eruptions of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapiesin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

mained here in order to give his testimony.

There was some question as to whether witnesses would be heard today or not. The committee early evinced a desire to organize finally and to map out a line of campaign. However, Major Richard Sylvester, superintendent of police, a number of his subordinate officers and the commissioners of the District of Columbia remained in readiness to be called.

Major Sylvester, it is understood, probably will be the first person to be interrogated. The storm of criticism raised by the alleged failure of the police to safeguard the women's parade has spread throughout the country and members of both branches of congress, especially those from states where universal suffrage is recognized are being bombarded with demands for summary action.

Degagne was sent to the hospital Jan. 11 with a well developed case of smallpox and later his wife and six children were sent there. None of the others, however, contracted the disease. All of them had been vaccinated with the exception of the two youngest and they were vaccinated before being sent to the hospital, so that the vaccination got in its work before the period for contagion had arrived. Degagne, himself, has been vaccinated, but that was some 30 years ago. The Degagnes live at 219 Woburn street.

THE RAILROAD PROBLEMS

Discussed by Chamber of Commerce

BOSTON, March 6.—Everyone of the 2,000 members of the Boston chamber of commerce, which includes business men in all parts of New England, was given an opportunity to express his opinion on the railroad problems in this section of the country at three special sessions of the chamber today.

Officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, the Boston & Maine, the Boston & Albany, and the Central Vermont railroads were invited to be present but none of them appeared at the first session this forenoon.

The directors of the chamber, previous to the meetings, made this announcement:

Judging from the suggestions that have been made the members are roughly dividing their opinions into three classes: Those who believe the Boston & Maine and the New Haven should be separated, in accomplishing which the commonwealth should take over the stock of the Boston & Maine now held by the Boston Holding Co.; those who believe that the object desired could be best accomplished in some other way and those who believe that no change in the existing situation is advisable.

MISS TAFT'S DOG FOUND

$5000 Italian Poodle Has Been Located

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Necmie, Miss Helen Taft's 1500 Italian poodle which strayed away from the White House on Tuesday and for which the police of Washington have made unrelenting search found itself early today. A maid in the home of Miss Taft's aunt, Mrs. Thomas Laughlin, was awakened by the shrill barking of the dog and let him in. A telegram was despatched to Miss Taft asking whether Necmie should be shipped to Augusta, where the Taft family now is or whether it should be kept here until they come north again.

The dog, to which Miss Taft is much attached, was given by King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, to former Secretary of the Navy Meyer, who presented the animal to Miss Taft.

The hearings before the municipal council this evening will be on two separate petitions presented by E. Garfield Baker et al. and William S. Southworth et al. Dental Bills of Soldiers

WASHINGTON, March 6.—If a soldier of the United States army has the toothache and the government's doctor is busy he must continue to suffer unless he is willing to foot the bill of a private dentist. Comptroller of the Treasury Tracy today advised the secretary of the navy that the expense for dental treatment of enlisted men cannot be legally paid by the government if the services of a naval dentist officer are not available.

CHANGES IN PHILIPPINES
Former Rebel Leader Engaged in Farming

Agustino, erstwhile rebel leader, engaged in farming and in the manufacture of a special brand of hemp braid for hats, is the enticing picture of Philippine industrial conditions drawn by J. C. Mueenman, formerly division school superintendent of Cebu, P. I., now a rural-school specialist in the United States bureau of education. Agustino's peaceful pursuit is typical of the change that has taken place in the Philippines during the past few years.

Mr. Mueenman describes entertainingly the remarkable industrial advance of the islands since the day the first American teachers disembarked from the U. S. transport Thomas a dozen years ago. Unhindered by endemic diseases and face to face with the traditions of education that were as big as civilization itself, these educators and those who followed them have gradually developed a system of Philippine schools under Filipino teachers that is rapidly transforming the social and industrial life of the islands.

Compulsory industrial training, fit for the needs of every Philippine life, is the most distinctive feature of the raw materials abundantly at hand in the islands, and are able to show the Philippines how to make the most of them. Every Filipino school boy is required to do a certain amount of work with native woods and flax; everyone must learn to till the soil by actually doing it in the school garden, and in a class of his own, and every Philippine school girl is taught certain phases of sewing and other home-making arts. All the children in the schools are obliged to pass through this period of elementary training in the everyday tasks of life.

Most significant in the scheme of industrial education is the establishment of the Philippine school of Household Industries. Two hundred women from different parts of the islands were brought together at Manila, shown how to adapt their native skill in embroidery and lace-making to the demands of foreign markets, and then sent back to their homes to form centers of industrial progress in their own communities. The government has established a sales agency to dispose of the commodities thus produced, and so far the demand has greatly exceeded the supply. One Filipino woman who was trained in the new school has 300 women working under her and is receiving from them in the United States orders for thousands of embroidered shirt waists and handkerchiefs. The beautiful Pina cloth, made from pineapple, is one product to which special attention is paid. Before the Americans came this cloth sold for four to 10 cents a yard; the demand for it is now such that it brings from $1.50 to $3 a yard.

"The hardest thing American teachers in the Philippines have to contend with," says Mr. Mueenman, "is the American spirit of haste and bustle. The American is in too much haste. He wants to get everything done at once. He tries to overturn in a few weeks the traditions of centuries. And yet, coming into a country where the ideal tends to be that of Manana—never do today what you can by any possibility put off till tomorrow—he has really made astonishing headway in transforming the Philippines into a country of today, where things move with something like American hurry. The old folks shake their heads and sigh for the good old times, but the young people, boys and girls alike, are glad to take advantage of the more efficient methods. They play American games and accept the educational opportunities offered them with equal adaptability, and it is through them that the new Philippine civilization is making its way irresistibly."

Agustino with his hemp weaving and agriculture may be a less heroic figure than the wily general who for so long closed the American armies, just as clean streets and city high schools somehow make less noise in the concert of the powers than the roar of guns in Manila Bay; but when the real history of humanity is written, it can scarcely leave untold the story of the unselfish efforts of America to carry the light of education to the Philippines.

THE WAY NOWADAYS.
Smith—The musical comedy is a big success—and now my friend Drawn will make considerable money.

Jones—Did he write it?

Smith—No, he designed all the costumes.

THE REASON—COIN.
She—Why, young Johnson has married old Mrs. Anthony. Just think of the disparity in their ages.

He—And also think of the disparity in their respective bank accounts.

LACKING A POINT.
"That was a well-pointed joke. Do you think, wasn't it?"

"Pure told, wasn't it?"

"Yes, in fact I failed to see any point to it."

THE DISTINCTION.
Cook—So young Saffy and his father are carrying on the business?

Hook—Yes. The old man does the business while young Saffy does the carrying on.

DIFFERENCE.
"Is he still putting on air?"

"Last time I saw him he was putting fires on his automobile."

ALGY, THE COP

TEXTILE SCHOOL CRITICIZED

Continued

The board of education, and then presented to the legislature, and that the school of education be charged with supervisory authority.

The board says, the time has undoubtedly arrived when further systematic efforts should be made to render the textile schools more efficient in proportion to the outlay of public funds required to maintain them. The present investigation shows that, however successful individual schools may have been in particular directions, in all cases they achieve results only at the cost of a considerable outlay of public money. It may be that a serious mistake was made in making possible the establishment of these schools, two of which are located but a few miles from each other. It is of the utmost importance that their efforts should be systematically co-ordinated, that there should be no unnecessary duplication of courses for day students, that each school should discover all ways of being of greatest possible service to the community and to the state, and that the standards as to admission requirements, fees, conditions of graduation or certification, and state supervision should apply to all alike.

The board has found a very high per capita cost for day students and also widely varying costs in the different schools. The following figures are presented as sufficiently accurate approximations:

	Lowell	New Bedford	Fall River
Total expenditure for maintenance	$65,443	$35,174	$21,812
Approximate computed cost of day school	55,257	15,612	22,509
Approximate computed cost of evening school	10,186	16,562	5,010
Approximate computed cost for one day student for one school year in dollars, 1911-12	245	712	315
Approximate average computed cost of one evening student for one course in dollars, 1911-12	25	40	15.76
Approximate computed cost for one day student for one year, less minimum fee	345	670	315

The board has found a pressing need of further investigation of the question of how the schools can serve the state and the industry more efficiently, and says: "It is highly desirable that all the schools, under some form of state supervision should be brought to recognize the importance of seeking to discover new ways to increase their efficiency. Among the problems requiring careful consideration are those relative to the possible concentration of advanced courses in one school, the development of intermediate technical courses in at least the New Bedford and Fall River schools, the possible development, in all the schools, of the types of education for which they stand. Such defects as exist are to be attributed largely to general causes found in the textile industry itself, to imperfectly developed standards of technical and vocational education, and to absence of adequate state supervision.

(3) The attendance of day students at each of the three textile schools is and always has been small in proportion to the equipment of the school and the size of its faculty; hence, the cost of day instruction, as measured by the usual standards has been and is high.

2 OFFICERS AND 69 MEN PERISHED

Official Death List Shows More Killed by Ramming of Torpedo Boat Than Supposed

BERLIN, March 6.—The total number of German blue jackets and officers killed as the result of the ramming of torpedo boat destroyer S175 by the York off Heligoland was greater than first supposed. The official death list issued by the admiralty today shows that two officers and 69 men perished, not, however, by drowning, but because most of them were frozen to death while clinging to loose spars after their vessel had sunk. A belated account of the disaster was published by the admiralty this morning in which it is stated that the destroyer while crossing the bows of the York became unmanageable and was cut in two by the bigger vessel just issued by the admiralty today shows that two officers and 69 men perished, not, however, by drowning, but because most of them were frozen to death while clinging to loose spars have an undue number of studies in common.

(7) The Textile school seem to have taken the position that the chief, if not the only service to be rendered by them to the textile industry, is to be found in the training of executives and supervisors. They have ignored the possibilities of effective trade training, and appear to have made no serious attempts to discover whether there is any real need for such training in the textile industry.

(8) Institutions of technical education should render a large service to industry through research and experimentation, especially in the direction of problems connected with the future development of local industries. It does not appear that the textile schools have as yet given sufficient consideration to this field of possible opportunity.

Received in Lowell—Sons of
Athens to Parade Tonight

Never was a news item so gladly received by the Lowell Greeks as that of the fall of Janina, which came this morning through a message sent by the Pan-Hellenic union headquarters in New York, to one of the directors, George Kouzoules of this city. The news was quickly spread about the community, and immediately a celebration was planned for this evening. When the telegram was received by Mr. Kouzoules, he immediately called at The Sun office to verify the news, and then the cheerful message was quickly spread through the community. A few hours later the Greek newspaper, Pan-Hellenic, was selling like hot cakes, and nothing but joy could be seen in the community, especially in the coffee houses, where groups assembled to drink a cup of coffee to the health of the brave soldiers who for months have been fighting for this important city for the past five months.

Bulgarians who are putting up a great battle for Adrianople and Scutaria. I believe a number of Turks were made prisoners and considerable ammunition and arms captured by the Greeks, which means another step toward final and quick victory.

"We are all very much pleased with this victory and many are contemplating a celebration for this evening." Many Greeks who are employed in the mills were apprised of the joyful news this noon and a large number remained at home this afternoon, in order to formulate plans for the celebration. If the weather is favorable and if plans are not changed, the Greeks will all meet at their church in Jefferson street at 7:30 o'clock this evening. They will all be supplied with Roman candles and headed by a brass band will parade about the city in order to show their joy over the victory of the Greek army.

The route of the parade will be Market to Dutton, to Fletcher, to Thorne, to Madison, to Central, to Market and back to the church, where patriotic speeches will be delivered by prominent speakers.

A couple of young Greeks arrived in the community a few days ago, coming from Greece, where they claimed they had served their country in the war, later being honorably discharged on account of disability being caused by bullet wounds. After investigating, however, many were of the opinion that these two young men were deserters, and inasmuch as their presence in Lowell was not wanted, they were induced to leave for other fields, and it is said that one went to Manchester, N. H., while the whereabouts of the other is unknown.

Fierce Bombardment Lasting Two Days Preceded Surrender—
30,000 Shells Fired

The fall of the fortress of Janina this morning before the gallant onslaught of the Greek forces is regarded as the greatest victory of the war. It evens up the honors between Greece and Bulgaria, and now there will be no excuse for depriving Greece of her fair share of the territory and the strongholds captured. In the capture of Janina, the Greek commander took 32,000 Turkish prisoners comprising the whole of the garrison and many refugees from Monastir and other places.

Fierce Bombardment
ATHENS, March 6.—The Turkish fortress of Janina, the key to the possession of the Province of Epirus, with its garrison of 32,000 men, surrendered to the Greek army today, after a defense which forms one of the most brilliant episodes of the Balkan war. The surrender was preceded by a fierce bombardment lasting two days and nights. Every gun available, including a number of heavy howitzers, lent by the Serbian artillery, was brought to bear by the Greeks upon the fortress defending the beleaguered city.

30,000 Shells Fired
No fewer than 30,000 shells were fired from the Greek guns during the first day's bombardment. Gradually the Turkish batteries at Bizani, Manolara, Sakal and elsewhere were silenced under the sustained rain of projectiles. The Greek commanders by a feint, led the Turks to believe that their attack would be made from the right and as soon as the attention of the defenders had been distracted the Greeks hurled large bodies of infantry on to the Turkish left. The Ottoman troops, utterly surprised, fell back in disorder.

The batteries on the heights of Bizani, which had been the mainstay of the defense, were unable to stand the storm of shells and had been put out of action by 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Greeks Pushed Forward
The Greeks pushed their forward movement during the afternoon and occupied the Turkish batteries on the Sakal and Elas hills, capturing all the guns and the artillerymen. The Greek battalions gradually deployed upon the plain in front of the city itself and the Turkish flight became general. Whole detachments succumbed to the panic and joined in a mad race into the city, with the Greek troops in hot pursuit almost to the walls.

The Plank of Truce
With all the defending batteries in the hands of the Greeks and the Hellenic soldiers at the gates of Janina, Essad Pasha, the Turkish commander, at 6 o'clock this morning, sent messengers on a flag of truce to Crown Prince Constantine of Greece, announcing the surrender of the city and all the troops under his command.

Fall of Stronghold Announced
The fall of the stronghold was announced by the crown prince to the Greek war office in the following despatch:

"Janina (Greek headquarters), 6 a. m.—The Greek army, having occupied the entire left front of the city of Janina, and also Bizani and Castria, having been surrounded by our troops, Essad Pasha has just informed me that his troops surrender as prisoners of war."

"I will send you shortly details of the great victory of our gallant army." Wild enthusiasm reigned in the streets of Athens on the announcement of the news. All the houses were decorated with flags and excited people thronged the thoroughfares singing the Greek national anthem. Joyous peals rang out from every church steeple in the capital.

The Greek advance on Janina began late in October and the Turks retired rapidly before them. Operations round the fortress opened about the beginning of December and continued with varying success even during the period of the armistice to which the Greeks never formally agreed. Several of the outlying forts fell before the Greek assaults and the attack on the principal fortifications was gradually pressed home.

Large Artillery
The Turkish garrison possessed 150 guns, most of which were large fortress artillery. These were distributed among the forts at Bizani to the south, Duruti to the southwest, Sadovizza to the west and Gardink to the northwest.

It was not known until this morning how many Turkish troops were in the city, the estimates heretofore carrying from 15,000 to 30,000 men. The population numbered 22,000, most of them Greeks. The fortifications which had at one time been strong were quite antiquated and could not resist modern cannon, with which the Greeks were well supplied.

Provisions throughout the siege had been fairly plentiful as Janina is a center of the grain trade in the eastern provinces of European Turkey.

Greeks in London Rejoice
LONDON, March 6.—There is great rejoicing in Greek diplomatic circles and among the Greek residents of London over the fall of the important Turkish stronghold of Janina which had hitherto offered such stern resistance to the Greek attack. Their joy is not only on account of the state of their army in the field but because they claim that the capture of Janina places Greece in a much stronger position to deal with Bulgaria when the time comes for the division of the spoils of war.

Greek Transports Sunk
VIENNA, March 6.—The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh today sank three Greek transports loaded with Serbian troops on the way to Scutari, according to a Constantinople despatch to the New Free Press.

The attack on the transports occurred, it is said, near the peninsula of Hagion Oros in the Aegean sea. From this it would appear that the transports were proceeding not to Scutari but to Gallipoli, where it was proposed some time ago by the Balkan allies to make a flank attack on the Turkish forces defending the Dardanelles.

The convoy of the Greek transports was a large one, consisting of 21 vessels, which carried 34 guns. They were encountered by the cruiser Hamidieh shortly after they had left the coast. With her battery of powerful 4.7 inch guns she was able to create havoc among the practically unprotected transports loaded with soldiers, according to the report received.

torney in the southern district of Florida. The president received them courteously but asked them to make their recommendations to the attorney general.

INDICATIONS ARE THAT NO SWEEPING CHANGES IN FOREIGN POLICY ARE CONTEMPLATED

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Indications that no immediate or sweeping changes in the foreign policy of the United States are in contemplation were afforded today when Secretary Bryan without much qualification approved the letters and instructions by wire that went out to the American representatives abroad in countries where stirring events are happening. It is true that generally this was routine business but yet it was inferred by the officials of lower rank than the secretary that President Wilson intends to make careful study of all the data to be presented to him by Secretary Bryan before making any radical changes in the existing policies.

It became known today that without abating this government's claim to the right to maintain an efficient army patrol along the Mexican border, the new administration intends to use every proper means to avoid friction with the Mexicans across the line.

TO DISSOLVE STEEL CORPORATION

Former Vice President Continues
His Testimony in Government
Suit

NEW YORK, March 6.—James Gayley, former vice president of the United States Steel Corporation, continued his testimony today in the hearings of the government suit to dissolve the corporation as an illegal combination. This was his third day on the witness stand. Mr. Gayley testified that he recommended the purchase of the champion mines and by the Steel corporation in 1902 in order that it might not be taken over by competitors. Judge Dickinson, counsel for the government, elicited from the witness after reading from the minutes of the executive committee of the corporation that the United States Steel Co., subsequently acquired by the "trust," was after the property at the time.

Returning to the days before the formation of the corporation, Mr. Gayley said that it was to the interest of the Carnegie Steel Co. to keep the price of iron ore high and that he kept in touch with the Bessemer Ore association with this purpose in view.

"The higher the ore the higher the price of steel," he smilingly explained. Mr. Gayley said that ore dealers in 1899 all agreed to advance the price $2 a ton. In 1900, according to the minutes of the Carnegie company, Mr. Gayley had presented to the ore association a proposition not to sell "their surplus ore to which they seemed favorably disposed."

"Was this arrangement carried out?" asked the government attorney.

"I don't recall that it got beyond the talking stage," Mr. Gayley said he had attended two meetings of the association in Cleveland, but could not recall an alleged meeting in his own office in April, 1901, at which ore dealers and steel manufacturers "had discussed from ore prices" and Southern Pacific roads on a plan for dissolving their merger.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Congressional investigation to determine the responsibility for the failure of the steel industry to attend the surface parade here last Monday got under way in earnest today when the senate committee appointed for the inquiry began hearing witnesses.

OMAHA, Neb., March 6.—The farmer was never so well cared for so far as concerns the use of farm implements as he is now, according to testimony given today by witnesses for the defense in the anti-trust suit of the government against the International Harvester Co. Mayor John W. Patterson of Kearney, Neb., made that statement to the court.

Warnettes Club
The members of the Warnettes club are doing extensive repairs to their club house at Willow Dale, in order to have the place ready for next month for the opening of the summer season. New furniture is being installed, and the young man expect to make this place the scene of the finest of its kind on the shores of Lake Michigan.

They are planning for their annual social and dance which will be held at Lincoln hall some time next month. This will be the sixth anniversary of this organization and the committee in charge which consists of Messrs. Joseph Leaver, Leo McEvoy, Frank Dismann and Arthur Leaver, are doing all in their power to make the event a notable one in the history of the club.

Y. M. C. A. SWIMMERS
To Have a Contest With Those of Lawrence—The Date will be Announced Later

The members of the Y. M. C. A. swimming team are working regularly in preparation for an annual meet with Lawrence within a few weeks. Under the guidance of Tom Gallagher, the rough spots are being rubbed down and the boys are becoming expert in the fine points of tank swimming. From all appearances Lowell should have a good team, especially when it is considered that until a month ago Lowell had no place suitable for the development of speed swimmers and divers.

Lawrence has had her tank in use for a much longer period than Lowell, but in the coming meet, arranged by Mr. Wicker, Lowell will show that her athletes are able to take care of themselves in the water as well as on terra firma. Dates and lists of events will be published shortly as soon as Lowell and Lawrence agree on the number of men and distances to be covered.

FUNERALS
HORNE—The funeral of Mrs. Emma H. Horne took place yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Pendergast, 33 Eighteenth street. Rev. Mr. Carillon officiated. Mr. and Mrs. George Burns sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me." The bearers were Edwin Brown, G. E. Pendergast, Frank Goodwin and A. L. Pendergast. Burial was in the Eden cemetery, in charge of Undertaker J. A. Weinbeck.

PATRIOTIC SACRIFICES WOULD BE ENGINEERS

Term of French Army Examinations to be Held
Service Increased Tomorrow

PARIS, March 6.—An appeal to the people of France to submit cheerfully to the patriotic sacrifices called for by the new military bill increasing the term of service in the active army to three years instead of two, was made today when the cabinet submitted the measure to parliament.

When the bill was laid on the table of the chamber of deputies it was accompanied by a declaration from the military, expressing the profound conviction that the proposal must be adopted not only for the security of France but for the peace of Europe, which depended entirely on the equilibrium of the great nations of Europe being maintained. There was no desire, the ministry said, to conceal in any way, the fact that a heavy task was about to be laid upon the French people whose clear vision and patriotism undoubtedly would overcome all hesitations and all the contingencies.

Tomorrow the regular monthly examinations for applicants for 1st and 2nd class engineers' licenses will be conducted in the office of Mr. Edward Moran, state boiler inspector. Thus far seven applications have been filed for this test and Mr. Moran will be assisted in the work by one or more of the examiners from the Boston headquarters of the district inspectors.

According to reports and indications, next Friday should be one of the biggest days on record in the number of its applicants for the licenses of third class engineers and fireman who will, in all probability, appear to take the test to qualify for these positions. A delegation of about 15 or 20 graduates of the evening industrial school of Lawrence have written to Inspector Moran for application blanks with the intention of appearing in Lowell on next Friday to take the examinations. The number of applicants which has been on the increase during the last few months still remains at a good average. Usually those who are ambitious and take advantage of the evening industrial schools pass the best examinations and are most readily qualified for the positions which they desire.

TO PASS TARIFF BILLS

House Leaders Favor
Expeditious Action

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Democratic of the senate today resumed their caucus to determine upon a plan of reorganization of the senate and the re-organizing of committees that are to have charge of legislation in the new congress. Senator Kern of Indiana, chosen caucus chairman and majority leader in yesterday's session of the caucus had a long conference last night with President Wilson and was prepared today to discuss in some detail with his colleagues the plans of the administration.

The house leaders want to pass the tariff bills as quickly as possible, sending them to the senate and then instead of taking up other legislation, such as currency reform, have the house adjourn for periods of deliberation.

In the opinion of some house leaders this would enable President Wilson send the democratic in the senate through their own power and the force of public attention to get such tariff legislation as the democratic platform declared to be necessary.

CABINET MEMBERS TAKE OATH

Met Formally Today—President
Wilson Received Many Congratulatory Letters

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Wilson's cabinet met formally today. As the nominations had not been sent to the senate when the first conference took place yesterday that meeting had no official standing.

No provision had been made for Vice President Marshall, although President Wilson is quoted as saying that he saw no reason why the vice president should not sit with the official family.

President Wilson's cabinet today broke some of the records established by Mr. Taft's official family. The Taft advisers usually reached the White House offices much after 11 o'clock, the hour set for the meeting. All Mr. Wilson's cabinet were in their offices within a few minutes of the meeting hour, ready to sit for a dozen photographers and several moving picture men.

Secretary Bryan was again a center of interest when he entered the executive offices. He had a hard time getting through the crowd and was stopped several times to be introduced by senators or congressmen to their constituents. Several women in the waiting room began to clap their hands and sing out, "Oh, there's Bryan," when the secretary entered at a rapid walk, doffed his broad brimmed hat and smiled a morning greeting.

Attorney General McReynolds, Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department and Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce took the oath of office today. Mr. McAdoo was sworn in by Associate Justice Hughes of the supreme court.

PRESIDENT WILSON GAVE DEMONSTRATION OF HIS NEW PATRONAGE RULE

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Wilson gave a practical demonstration of the application of his new patronage rule today. Senators Bryan and Fletcher of Florida called at the White House to discuss appointments of a district judge and a United States at-

is danger in extreme measures for the thin, nervous, hypersensitive individual, who is most likely to go in for observances on this scale.

Medical men are coming more and more to feel that the people who habitually live well and tend to be overfed, eating at least four solid meals a day, would be far healthier and happier and would live longer as well if they could be prevailed upon to fast now and again, as well as reduce the amount of food they consume daily. A short fast—say, forty-eight hours—gives the digestive organs a complete rest and allows the body to get rid of poisons from the blood, which are closely concerned in the production of gout, rheumatism and many other ills of the flesh.

Mentally also fasting is beneficial, provided it is not carried to the extent of impairing the nourishment and diminishing the vitality.

The moral influence is very real. It is a good thing for people to be able to give up at will what is superfluous and luxurious in daily life. There are men whose will power is so feeble that they would be incapable of stopping smoking for a week, and women too. The habit of self-indulgence is easily established, and in this age, when hair shirts and flagellations are unpopular with the majority, the "doing without" policy is almost necessary now and again.

Mental depression and melancholia are frequently associated with digestive disorder and sluggish liver. Simple living, simple fare, a little more exercise and quiet will cure a large percentage of "nerves." Every one of the fashionable "cures" at home and abroad has three factors in common—rest, regulation of diet and daily exercise. Unfortunately most people value a cure according to the amount of money it costs them and the trouble it entails. They can achieve the same results for nothing by utilizing the opportunities of Lent.

A Pretty Waist Belt
A very pretty waist belt was worn recently by a young girl on a graduation dress. It was of broad gray velvet ribbon, with a fringe of tiny pink roses at each end and a buckle to match. The belt was carried round to waist to meet at the left side, where one end was pushed through the flower buckle and both ends hung freely down the skirt, the pink roses fringing hanging freshly near the feet.

THE TEXTILE SCHOOLS CRITICIZED

State Board of Education Says
They Should be More Helpful to Local Industries

The report of the state board of education on the three textile schools of the state, the Lowell, Fall River and New Bedford schools, is in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution the latter part of next week. The report contains some very important recommendations and advises that additional legislation be provided so that the work of the schools may be coordinated. The board states the time has arrived when further systematic efforts should be made to coordinate the textile schools more efficiently in proportion to the outlay of public funds required to maintain them, and that the schools should do their utmost to develop ways of being of greatest possible service to the textile industries of the local community and to the state.

DR. F. D. FRIEDMAN INVITED
TO MAKE TEST IN THIS CITY

NEW YORK, March 5.—The city health authorities yesterday gave Dr. F. D. Friedman permission to test the treatment which he claims is a cure for tuberculosis. Dr. Friedman desires to make the test, the board of health will allow it to be undertaken at the Unversity Tuberculosis hospital at Jamaica, or the Riverside hospital at North Brother Island in the East river.

The board of health's sanction hitherto withheld, was granted after the visiting board, composed of representatives of the board, had submitted a report of the results of Friedman's treatment of tuberculosis patients today, that the secretary would not make known where the physician's headquarters for this purpose would be established.

Dr. S. J. Hackett of the Notre Dame hospital, Lowell, Mass., visited Dr. Friedman and asked him to make demonstrations of his treatment in that hospital. Dr. Friedman held the offer in abeyance. Charles E. Finlay, the banker who has interested himself in the German physician, said that Ottawa, Canada, has offered Dr. Friedman the freedom of the city if he will make tests there.

Dr. Friedman conducts a small hospital at the corner of Wabancant and the Pawtucket streets.

TRADING WAS DULL

AT THE OPENING OF THE STOCK MARKET TODAY

Several Leaders Lowered at 11 O'Clock
—Coal Stocks Spurred Upward for a While—C. P. and Tobacco Dropped

NEW YORK, March 5.—Opening changes in stocks today were about evenly divided between small fractional gains and losses. Trading was dull. The only variations of more than a fraction were in snuff, which declined 1-4 and Can. Pac., which lost a point.

General heaviness resulted when an effort was made to market stocks around the opening figures. Can. was lowered two points and some other leading issues half as much. The market continued today on its uncertain footing of the week which has been marked by alternating periods of strength and weakness. Following yesterday's advance traders sold stocks today and prices were depressed in some specialties. Bear operators sought to make capital out of the poor showing of the bank of England in its weekly statement which emphasized unfavorable monetary conditions abroad.

Standard stocks sympathetic to a greater extent with abrupt declines in certain specialties such as tobacco, Woolworth, H. B. and Pump pf. Weakness of some new lumber frontiers, Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4-1/2% declining to 96 and a rise in steel and Continental exchange which brought the gold export point measurably nearer contributed to the market reaction.

Coal stocks spurred up for a while but their improvement did not add the general market much and the whole list again ran off. Perseverent liquidation of some high priced specialties, including Pacific, lost three points and tobacco over seven.

The market closed heavy. Speculative interest was at a low ebb in the late operation but the undertone remained heavy with a continuance of the isolated liquidation in minor stocks. Tobacco made a sharp recovery but the movement in general was inconsequential.

MRS. PANKHURST QUILTS

Leaves Suffragettes—A
Riotous Meeting

LONDON, March 5.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader of the suffragettes, has broken down completely. She has cancelled all her engagements and has gone to Paris for rest. This announcement was made at a suffragette meeting at Hampstead last night, where Mrs. Pankhurst was scheduled to speak. "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond took her place.

Meeting in Riot
Mrs. Drummond no sooner began talking than a group of students let loose quantities of snuff, startling everybody to sneezing. A lively scuffle ensued between the attendants and the disturbers. Chairs were broken, blows were exchanged and black eyes and bruises were plentiful.

During a lull in the disorder Mrs. Drummond advised all the municipal electors to vote against the London county council progressive candidates as a protest against the conduct of the Rt. Hon. John Burns, president of the local government board, who has been denouncing the suffragettes as tyrannical and their militant efforts as blackguardism.

Blames Press
John Burns spoke last night at a meeting at Islington. While guards were electing two disturbing male supporters of the suffragettes, Mr. Burns said that such disturbances were the result of the "stuff" the newspapers had published. Later in the speech he said:

"The press of this country is imitating the American newspapers, which have so lied against public men, so slandered them, that few decent-minded men are willing to go into public life in America. If the present campaign of calumny continues this course will end in civil neglect and corruption, for it will repel from public life the sensitive, kindly and respectable men who formerly served their fellow citizens."

WOMEN TO SEE PRESIDENT
CONCERNING ATTACK ON PARADE

TABLEAU ON TREASURY STEPS

WASHINGTON, March 5.—President Wilson will be called on to take some action on the mismanagement that marked the parade the woman suffragists held Monday and which was marked by scenes of wild disorder. This statement was issued from woman suffrage headquarters: "While police by the score stood by and laughed, hoodlums, drunken men and toughs did all but break up the great suffrage procession in which more than 10,000 women participated. Only the timely arrival of a squad of the Fifteenth United States cavalry, who rode to the rescue on the gallop, the manliness of several score United States soldiers and marines recruited from the streets and a band of Boy Scouts kept the great suffragist army from being routed. Participating in the procession were more than a score of United States senators and representatives, who promised a thorough investigation of the disgraceful affair. The marchers in the procession literally had to push their way through huge crowds which the police made only weak attempts to push back." More than 300 persons who were hurt in the crush were treated at hospitals and as many more were attended by physicians in their homes and hotels. A young woman with her foot smashed and her toes almost severed by a policeman's horse was taken to the Emergency hospital. This was but one of a number of similar cases where women and men were crushed and injured by police horses and automobiles. In the crush of the crowd husbands and wives and mothers and children were separated. Twenty-five lost children were under the care of matrons at the police stations of night while a score of husbands were seeking information of wives lost during the crush on the streets.

REBELS ATTACK REPAIR TRAIN

Force Was Routed by Federal Troops—Rebels Suffer Heavy Losses

MEXICO CITY, March 5.—A force of rebels under Alberto Guadalupe, a commander of rural guards, who revolted against the Huerta administration in the state of Coahuila, was routed with heavy losses by federal troops yesterday near Parras in the state of Coahuila. The battle occurred when the rebels attacked a repair train which was proceeding from Torreon to Saltillo, the capital, under the escort of a strong body of troops belonging to the army of General Truett. The rebels were defeated and repulsed the rebels after a very sharp fight.

The governor of the state of Campeche, Manuel Castilla Brito, is reported to have fled from his post and to be on the way to Havana, where it was his intention to join the members of the Madero family. MADAM! IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

WASTE-CLOGGED BOWELS, TORPID LIVER AND DECAYING FOOD IN STOMACH CAUSE THE SICK HEADACHE, GAS, BACKACHE, SALLOWNESS, BILIOUSNESS AND INDIGESTION

All women get bilious, headachy and constipated—simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. These are nature's ways of keeping the liver and thirty feet of bowels active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, fruit Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all the women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, bilious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion, nervousness and depression. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonsful of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this tonight—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the sour bile, clogged-up waste and poisonous matter have been gently but thoroughly moved on and out of your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion rosy, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches.

It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowels clean and regular. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrup sometimes substituted to fool you. The true genuine, bears the name California Fig Syrup Company; look for this on the label.

FINANCE COMMISSIONER

Issues First Month of Year Statement

CITY'S DISTANCE FROM DEBT LIMIT IS $344,784.27

Comparative Statement of Department's Expenses for the Years 1911 and 1912:

The report of the commissioner of finance for the month of January has been received from the printer and is ready for distribution at the office of the commissioner at city hall. The report shows that the total city debt, January 1, 1913, was $1,328,376.60 and deducting from that amount the sum of $2,623,800, representing water loans, temporary tax loan, etc., leaves $1,704,776.60 the city debt as it relates to the limit of indebtedness.

The limit of the municipal debt for 1913, 2½ per cent. of the average valuation for the past three years, is $2,019,569.87, and deducting from that the city debt as it relates to the limit of indebtedness, $1,704,776.60, gives $314,793.27 as the city's distance from the debt limit, January 1, 1913. The payments to be made on the city debt during the year aggregate $303,215.70 and the total borrowing limit for the year 1913 is $647,999.57. The cash balance January 31, 1913, was $234,270.53.

Included in the reports are comparative statements of grand total expenditures by the following departments for the years 1911 and 1912: Department of streets and highways, department of water works and fire protection, department of public property and licenses and the school department with a report of the total expenditures of the water department for 1911 and 1912. The Statement Not Complete

Asked why he did not include a comparison of the mayor's department and the department of the commissioner of finance for 1911 and 1912 in his report, Commissioner Brown said: "I was only interested in showing the departments that make permanent improvements; the departments that are doing public work all the time."

"Don't you think you ought to have included those departments in order to complete your report?"

"I did not leave them out for any reason that might be guessed at. I have never been asked for figures having to do with the mayor's department or the department of finance. They are not active departments to the extent of making public improvements or doing public work."

"They have appropriations and spend them. The public would probably like to know how these two departments managed in 1912 as compared with 1911," suggested the reporter.

"Well, if I had included figures having to do with these two departments I would have had to add two extra leaves to the report. I will give the figures for these departments next month."

C. H. MILLER SHOT SELF

Climbed Into Tower of Boston Bridge

BOSTON, March 5.—Charles H. Miller, whose home is believed to be at Woonsocket, R. I., climbed into a tower on the Cambridge side of the new West Boston bridge and shot himself today. The sound of the shot attracted the attention of passersby who discovered the body. The man's identity was learned from papers on the body, which also indicated that he was a Knight Templar and a member of Palestine commandery of Providence.

James Wilson's Last Act

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The last act of James Wilson as secretary of agriculture was to reinstate C. G. Elliott as chief engineer of drainage investigations in the department of agriculture. Mr. Elliott was dismissed by Secretary Wilson for his attitude in the department of agriculture's connection with the Florida Everglades investigation. A congressional committee vindicated him.

Prizes for Cleanliness

NEW YORK, March 5.—Prizes for cleanliness have worked wonders among girls attending the West Side mission, according to the Rev. Daniel K. Ford and Mrs. Ford, who are in charge of it. In order to impress them with the necessity for bathing, Rev. Mr. Ford frequently told them that the application of water to the skin was conducive to health and beauty and more beneficial than the sewing classes of industrial schools. The lectures did not accomplish all that was desired and then hair ribbons were offered as prizes with far better effect.

MRS. WILSON WILL MAKE HER DEBUT AS FIRST LADY OF THE LAND TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson tonight will make her debut in the role of first lady of the land as the patroness of a semi-public meeting. As honorary chairman of the Women's National Democratic league she will attend a lecture at the league headquarters to be given by Dr. J. Holmes, director of the bureau of mines. Dr. Holmes will discuss the question of the safety devices for the conservation of life and the scientific construction of mines.

PRES. WILSON SAW WORKMEN TEAR DOWN STAND IN WHICH HE REVIEWED PARADE

WASHINGTON, March 5.—When President Wilson awakened this morning he saw the beginning of the passing of the inauguration glory, for a small army of workmen shortly after daylight had begun to tear down the court of honor immediately in front of the White House and from a stand in which the president had reviewed the marching thousands on Tuesday. Although the street cleaners worked continuously yesterday the task of removing the evidences of the celebration was so great that virtually only Pennsylvania avenue was groomed. The other street will be given attention today.

When the myriad of lights on Pennsylvania avenue are extinguished tonight the last evidences of the inauguration virtually will have passed. It was decided to illustrate the evening this evening for the benefit of the remaining visitors. As soon as the lights are extinguished the work of removing the strands of incandescent bulbs will begin although the Washington chamber of commerce has inaugurated a movement which would retain the lighting effects and make them a permanent feature.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S SECOND DAY FOUND LONG ENGAGEMENT LIST

WASHINGTON, March 5.—President Wilson's second day in the White House found a long engagement list awaiting his attention. Baron Chinda, Japanese ambassador, the first representative of a foreign power to be received formally, came early bearing his congratulations to the Japanese emperor to Mr. Wilson. The reception was in the blue room with all the ceremony that accompanies the visit of an ambassador to a president. Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain met President Wilson informally yesterday. Augustus Thomas and Frederick C. Penfield, who are being mentioned as likely to become ambassadors to European courts had engagements at the White House later in the day.

OFFICE SEEKERS WHO ARRIVED IN WASHINGTON ARE REMOVED TO THEIR FATE

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Office-seekers have discovered that the political plum tree of 1913 bore little fruit, having suffered from the blight of extended civil service rules and the added requisite of familiarity with the complications existing in government departments. In consequence scores of disappointed job hunters are cooling their heels in the halls of the capital and bemoaning their fate. To these unfortunate who expected to profit personally through the inauguration of a new administration, President Wilson's statement of yesterday came as a further shock. The president's determination not to see office-seekers after positions unless he sends for them, virtually closed the main avenue to the goal of official position. A further complication is found in the fact that the heads of the various departments are evincing no haste in making changes in the staffs over which they preside.

SEC. GARRISON ORDERED MAJOR GEN. WOOD TO CONTINUE UNDER ORIGINAL DESIGNATION

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Secretary of War Garrison today ordered Major General Leonard Wood to continue under his original designation as chief of staff of the army until further orders. The purpose of Secretary Garrison's action is to enable President Wilson to have time fully to consider the question of a permanent designation.

CONGRATULATORY LETTERS FROM KINGS, EMPERORS, AND PRESIDENTS RECEIVED

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Congratulatory telegrams and letters poured into the White House today from all over the world. They came from kings, emperors and presidents of foreign republics and included also communications from proud fathers and mothers who announced the birth on March 4 of sons who are to be named Woodrow Wilson.

SAYS WIFE GAVE HIM BLACK EYE

Husband's Sister Testifies at the Webber Divorce Case Hearing in Boston

BOSTON, March 6.—Mrs. Mabel A. Kellher of Prescott street, Somerville, a sister of Samuel N. Webber of Cambridge, who is contesting the divorce action of his wife, Gertrude, told Judge Hitchcock yesterday that she had suggested to Mrs. Webber to drop the whole matter for the sake of the couple's 15-year-old daughter, Viola, but that Mrs. Webber refused.

Mrs. Kellher testified that she had met Mrs. Webber at a hotel in this city within the past year and talked over the divorce proceedings and other matters, but denied that she had ever asked Mrs. Webber to drop the divorce action so that Mr. Webber might be helped in his suit for alienation of affections.

Druggist Named

Mrs. Webber brought the original libel alleging cruel and abusive treatment, failure to provide and statutory charges. Mr. Webber has also brought a libel and is contesting her suit. He claims that she has been guilty of misconduct.

Webber has sued Allen H. Adams, a Somerville druggist, for $30,000 for alienation of affections.

At the hearing yesterday three detectives from a private agency in this city testified to trailing Mrs. Webber and seeing her meet a man and then both enter a down town hotel.

Gave Him Black Eye

Mrs. Kellher testified she had seen her brother with a black eye which he told her his wife had inflicted upon him and that later when she talked to her sister-in-law about it, Mrs. Webber had said to her that if Webber was going to hit her she was going to get hers in first.

She also told Judge Hitchcock that she had seen Mrs. Webber throw dishes on the floor at the Webber home, but that she had never seen Webber strike his wife.

Beer Instead of Wine

Mrs. Kellher stated she had been told by Mrs. Webber of having an engagement with Adams and of visiting Adams' drug store on one occasion and of Adams handing Mrs. Webber a box. They returned home and found that it contained two bottles of beer, and that Mrs. Webber was disappointed because it did not contain wine.

Mrs. Webber had told her, she testified, that she (Mrs. Webber) had met Adams at a hotel in this city and also in New Hampshire. Mrs. Kellher said that Adams had given her sister-in-law a $10 gold piece, dress goods, an umbrella, magazines, and theatre tickets.

Heard Talk About Kuffe

William Egges of School street, Somerville, a former neighbor of the Webbers when they resided on Hawthorne street, Somerville, told of frequent quarrels that he had heard of between Mr. and Mrs. Webber, and of hearing Mrs. Webber say to her husband, "I'll get you yet, I'll down you," and on another occasion of hearing Webber say to his wife, "put down that knife." He testified that he had also seen Mrs. Webber ransacking a large box containing her husband's personal effects.

Allen H. Adams, the Somerville druggist named by Webber, was the last witness. He denied any misconduct with Mrs. Webber, or of giving her the presents testified to and denied that he had ever visited any Boston hotel or elsewhere with her. He admitted knowing her, meeting her in a business capacity and of being friendly with her. Judge Hitchcock will hear her arguments on the case today.

ton Holbrook, a real estate dealer owning much property in the neighborhood, who claimed that the neighborhood was strongly opposed to the sale of any property to colored persons, and that the advertisement was a "spite sign" erected because of a quarrel with neighbors.

The night before the decision was handed down upholding Mrs. Morrison's right to display the sign, the sign itself, which has been the cause of nearly a year's litigation in the supreme court, disappeared. Mrs. Morrison claims it was removed by neighbors. Mr. Holbrook said yesterday he believed it had been blown away by the wind.

It will be replaced, however, by a new sign, larger than the first, and bearing the same words against which Mr. Holbrook sought to obtain an injunction. The words are as follows: "For sale, best offer from colored family."

Following the announcement of the decision, Mrs. Morrison said that she had a very attractive offer from a colored family, and that she thought it likely she would close the deal within a few weeks.

It was claimed by Holbrook that the sign was put up not for the purpose of selling the property, but to satisfy a quarrel of long standing between Mrs. Morrison and her neighbors, the family of James H. Lynch, which occupies an adjoining house.

A law suit for damages is pending between the two families for alleged injuries inflicted by Mrs. Morrison on the young child of the Lynch family, at the time when the child trespassed into Mrs. Morrison's garden, and was led out by the owner.

Illustrated Lecture

The fourth lecture of the free course given by the People's club to the residents of this city in its rooms in Runnels building was given last night before a very large audience. The speaker was Arthur R. Peck, whose subject was "From the Azores to the Bay of Naples." The lecture was illustrated with beautiful views of the European country and proved most interesting. The views on land and sea were all as delicately tinted as though taken by some highly perfected process which could photograph all the range of colors and tints to be found in nature.

Mr. Peck who is a very interesting speaker gave a good description of the country shown in the pictures, and his talk was immensely appreciated and enjoyed by all who heard it.

PATTERSON RUBBER COMPANY

Will Open Its Plant in Middlesex Street About the Middle of April

Work at the Patterson Rubber Co. in Middlesex street is progressing rapidly and it is expected that the plant will be running full force by the middle of April. The main building is almost completed and a shift of men are now busy installing engines and other apparatus for the equipment of the plant.

The main building which was constructed of brick is 266 ft. by 65 ft. and four stories high. It is a fine structure and so constructed that light and air will be plentiful. The only work to be done on the exterior of the building is to the roof, and that is nearly completed.

The power will consist of steam and electricity and the foundations for the engines are being put in and it is expected the two large engines will be installed some time next week.

The company has also constructed a water tower with a capacity of 50,000 gallons. It is 150 feet high and was built of steel. The water to be used will be taken partly from the city's supply and partly from the river which is nearby.

The two tanks for storing gasoline have also arrived and in a few days they will be placed underground. The capacity of these two large tanks as they could be called is 12,000 gallons.

The officials of the company who were occupying an office in the Central building have removed to their permanent office near the plant, which has just been completed. This consists of a large wooden building with all the equipment necessary for a modern business office.

One of the officials of the company in conversation with the writer this morning stated that he believed the plant will be started by the middle of April, and at the outbreak about 150 persons will be employed, those to consist of men and women. Skilled help will be hired as much as possible, but unskilled men and women will also be shown the work. The company will want good reliable help, and will pay good wages.

"SPITE SIGN" IS LEGAL

Property Offered for Sale to Colored Family

BOSTON, March 6.—Mrs. Mamie C. Morrison of 137 Wellington Hill street, Mattapan, will take full advantage of the decision of the supreme court, handed down yesterday in which it was held that Mrs. Morrison was in her rights in displaying a large sign on her house offering it for sale on advantageous terms to a colored family, even if it is done for the purpose of annoying neighbors.

Call it "Spite Sign"

The suit was brought by Wellington Holbrook, a real estate dealer owning much property in the neighborhood, who claimed that the neighborhood was strongly opposed to the sale of any property to colored persons, and that the advertisement was a "spite sign" erected because of a quarrel with neighbors.

The night before the decision was handed down upholding Mrs. Morrison's right to display the sign, the sign itself, which has been the cause of nearly a year's litigation in the supreme court, disappeared. Mrs. Morrison claims it was removed by neighbors. Mr. Holbrook said yesterday he believed it had been blown away by the wind.

It will be replaced, however, by a new sign, larger than the first, and bearing the same words against which Mr. Holbrook sought to obtain an injunction. The words are as follows: "For sale, best offer from colored family."

Following the announcement of the decision, Mrs. Morrison said that she had a very attractive offer from a colored family, and that she thought it likely she would close the deal within a few weeks.

It was claimed by Holbrook that the sign was put up not for the purpose of selling the property, but to satisfy a quarrel of long standing between Mrs. Morrison and her neighbors, the family of James H. Lynch, which occupies an adjoining house.

A law suit for damages is pending between the two families for alleged injuries inflicted by Mrs. Morrison on the young child of the Lynch family, at the time when the child trespassed into Mrs. Morrison's garden, and was led out by the owner.

Paymaster, With $900 in Office, Was Menaced by Negro With Pistol

BOSTON, March 6.—Paymaster Warner A. Holt of the Boston & Albany railroad was held up at the point of a revolver in his office at the South station yesterday afternoon just before closing time by a colored man, who was frightened away by cries for help and arrival of assistance.

Braved Pistol

Paymaster Holt, with the muzzle of the revolver a yard from his face, courted death but saved his cash when he yelled for assistance.

The robber, believed to be a former Pullman porter, made his escape.

The holdup was one of unusual daring. In one of the myriad of offices, room 317, on the third floor of the station, with hundreds of people within easy call, the colored man attempted his robbery.

Opening the door without hesitation, the man, described as six feet in height and of athletic build and small mustache, walked over to the paymaster's grating. He shoved a revolver through the opening and ordered Holt to throw up his hands. The paymaster obeyed but screamed lustily for help at the same time, although expecting to see the hammer of the gun fall any second.

Two messenger boys, who happened to be in the corridor adjacent, hearing the cries, beat a retreat, at the same time continuing the warning in lusty response to that of the paymaster.

Backed Out

Without lowering his revolver the hold-up man stepped to the door, saw the messenger boys scurrying along, and then decided it was time for him also to run.

Frank McDermott, employed in one of the nearby offices, also came to the scene, but the colored man was in flight. McDermott also spread the alarm.

By this time a large number of the employees began to arrive from many offices, and hearing of the escapee joined in the pursuit of the would-be robber, who was heading down the back stairs with his revolver still in his hand.

The crowd and the commotion, however, aided the man in making his escape. Once outside the office section of the building he mixed with the usual early evening commuters, and from the station his movements could not be traced.

Policeman David Buckley of the Larrance street station, who is stationed on the crossing near the entrance of the South station, was notified, and after a look around went to Holt's office.

$900 in Office

The paymaster told him that he had about $900 in his office ready to put in the safe, when he was commanded to throw up his hands.

McDermott informed the officer that the man looked like a former Pullman porter, and a hunt for the erstwhile employee was at once started.

The police believe that the man who attempted the work must have been fairly well acquainted with the interior of the building and the ways of the office.

Holt lives in Newton, and is a division paymaster. He considers his escape lucky.

ANNA GOULD APPEALS

The Castellane Annulment Decision

ROME, March 6.—The decision rendered by the papal tribunal of Rota favorable to the annulment of the marriage of Count Beni de Castellane and Miss Anna Gould, new the Duchess de Talleryand, is not final. According to the ecclesiastical law two decisions are necessary for a definite verdict. In the Castellane-Gould case the first decision was against annulment and the second in favor of it.

The Duchess de Talleryand has appeared against the latest verdict of the Rota tribunal in order to protect her children and the settlement of the appeal will constitute the final verdict with respect to the annulment of the marriage.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Amille

"The best groomed leaders of fashion have abandoned the use of face powder. They rely upon a complexion beautifier, the secret of which is not common property. Just apply to the face, neck and arms a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayalano in a half pint of witch hazel. This will do wonders in making the skin smooth, clear and satiny."

"Falling hair and baldness are caused by vegetable parasites, the result of an unclean scalp, and are easily conveyed from one person to another. Mother's shampoo is a scientific formula that directly attacks these parasites. A package containing ten shampoos can be had at any drugstore for 25 cents. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, pour on the head, wash and thoroughly rinse."

"Eyebrows and lashes deserve attention. If they are thin and straggly, massage them daily with pyroxin, and the eyebrows will grow even and regular in well formed arches. While the lashes will be long and aliken."

"Wild hairs and fuzzy growths that cause many women humiliation can be painlessly removed by one application of delatone. Make a paste with a little delatone and water, apply and wash skin, and the hairs are gone."

"Mother's Salve quickly heals sores, cuts, and burns, without leaving a scar. It is cooling, soothing and comforting, and gives almost instant relief. It is fine for the removal of certain kinds of eczema, pimples and skin eruptions."

"A Vaucaire treatment for rounding out the bust that seldom falls can be prepared in the privacy of the home by making a syrup with its cupful of sugar and a pint of water, to which is added one ounce of galloil. The dose is two teaspoonfuls before meals."

MONUMENTS SMASHED

Vandal at Gettysburg Battlefield

GETTYSBURG, Pa., March 6.—Eight monuments on the Gettysburg battlefield were seriously damaged by a vandal who evidently used a heavy hammer for his destructive work. The monuments which suffered were the Fifth Corps headquarters; Fortieth New York; Grant's Vermont brigade; Sixth Maine; Fifth Wisconsin; and Thirty-seventh Massachusetts.

Large pieces of granite were chipped off of prominent parts of all the memorials, while on the Ninety-sixth Pennsylvania and Fortieth New York, statues of soldiers had parts of the faces knocked off, guns smashed, and portions of the body broken.

The crowd and the commotion, however, aided the man in making his escape. Once outside the office section of the building he mixed with the usual early evening commuters, and from the station his movements could not be traced.

Policeman David Buckley of the Larrance street station, who is stationed on the crossing near the entrance of the South station, was notified, and after a look around went to Holt's office.

The present legislature has placed Colorado in the list of states favorable to boxing under the proper restrictions. The Denver club has written Jimmy Gardner, the local boxer who attained premier honors in both light and welterweight classes, to come out and manage their boxing exhibitions. Jimmy, however, prefers his native spot to begin with and also considers the club here as too tempting to leave. His decision to remain is greatly appreciated by the members of the local club.

Lowell high has two more track meets on her schedule for the indoor season of this year. On Saturday next the local team will meet the fast English high team of Boston and a thrilling good meet is looked for. Lowell is picked to win, although the boys from the hub are credited with being the best team in the Greater Boston League. However, the big colored performer is their mainstay, and is expected to come through with a win in the shotput, 300 yard dash and the 30 yard sprint as well as running anchor on the relay team. Notice the phrase used—expected to.

Papke must have felt that everything was going against him yesterday in his clash with Klaus over in Paris or he would not have fouled so frequently that the referee felt obliged to award the contest to the Pittsburgh bearcat. Klaus was always a terrific hitting machine and a few of those pot body blows of his are enough to make any man think that a few minutes' intermission for refreshments would be in order.

Maraville, the diminutive former shortstop of the New Bedford baseball club, is putting up a great game in the Boston outfit. He is credited with his hitting in particular is very flashy and is causing much comment among the newspaper critics who are watching the work of the team. His main fault at the bat seems to be his tendency to pull away from a fast close one but Stallings should remedy this defect before the season has progressed very far.

There is a strong possibility that Frank Chance will again be seen with a first baseman's mitt on. His head aches that bothered him so much last year have not returned since the operation that he underwent and now the whole situation rests with the Yankee manager's legs. If his underpinnings stand up all right Chance will be on the first sack when the umpire calls "play ball" in the opening game. "Hal" Chase has already demonstrated the fact that he can play the pivot bag with the best of them and is being kept there in expectation that the former Chicago playing manager will be able to play again this season.

According to dispatches from California, Jim Jeffries is again thinking about re-entering the ring. Tom Jones and the former champion's brother Jack are given credit for discrediting him by trying to coax the ones great fighter back into the squared ring. Jeffries had his chance to come back and should realize after looking over the list that are competing today for an attempt to regain their former standing that it is well nigh an impossibility. Nelson and Wolcott are two striking examples of those who think that they can remain good forever and both have double the chance that the big dollar maker would have. Jones and brother Jack must be looking for some soft commission money.

The meeting of the schedule committee, of which Manager Gray is a member, will probably conclude its business by the end of this week. They have been in session for two days now and the final arrangements for games usually covers a period of three or four days. Manager Gray will attempt to pull down as many Saturday games as possible as more local fans are able to witness the ball game on that day than on any other day during the week.

HOW DUFFY BROKE IN DOHAN TO MEET RIVERS

Portland Manager Got After His Bout With Start in Lowell McDonough

Itch Duffy's advent into organized baseball is interesting as well as peculiar. Duffy came to Lowell to serve as an understudy for a third baseman on the Lowell club, but the club that had gone bankrupt. About the time that Duffy struck Lowell the regular third baseman was taken ill and could not get into a uniform for a week. The present owner of the Portland club was immediately, on his arrival in town, given a Lowell uniform and sent into the vacant infield position. That sickness was the worst thing that ever happened to the unfortunate regular for besides playing an errorless game in the field Duffy connected for three hits with a total of nine. Not only on the first day but throughout the week did the stocky utility infielder dig up grounders and smash down fences with his vicious clouts. On the day that Duffy came back in a uniform Duffy, out of four times at bat, made three home runs and a triple on the old Riverside ball grounds. The disgruntled Lovells called Duffy out after the first game and had left Duffy's bat and left the park. He had been enough to show him that the green lad was an exceptionally brilliant ball player and with no adeux Duffy played a wonderful game for Lowell that year and before the season was half over several of the big league managers were vying for him. Tim Morgan and Frank B. Selzer were the men who led the procession of managers who were looking for the services of the Lowell third baseman. Tim Morgan, now president of the New England league, was the man who finally landed Duffy, but it cost him some money. Duffy pulled down $1800 for his first year's performance, a phenomenon and figure for a youngster breaking into big league ball in those days.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE BOAT CREWS TO CLASH ON THE THAMES RIVER MARCH 15

LONDON, March 6.—The Oxford and Cambridge boat crews are training for their contest which will take place over the historic Thames river course March 15. The crews seem to be about evenly balanced, and picking the winner is more a matter of individual preference than judgment. In the last thirteen races Cambridge has won seven times, but Oxford has been the victor in the last four contests. By winning this year Oxford would make the races even for fourteen years. In its last four wins Oxford has never been more than six lengths ahead, and some contests have been won by as narrow margins as three lengths.

BOSTON, March 6.—The cloakmakers are affiliated with the international garment workers union and their demands are similar to those made by the garment workers and the shirtwaist and dressmakers already out. There are about 3000 members in the cloakmakers union and it is estimated that half that number quit work upon the strike signal. They ask for a working week of 49 hours; a 15 per cent increase in wages; improved sanitary conditions in the shops and recognition of the union. The strike today brings the total number of garment workers idle up to 7000 or 8000. The strikers on leaving their places of employment, which are scattered over a wide territory, gathered in Tremont street and marched to the union headquarters in the North End. There were little trouble in the strike district this morning. One girl striker was arrested for loitering near the shops.

TO SWIM THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

Henry F. Sullivan, the crack distance swimmer of this city, will attempt to swim the English channel in the late spring or early summer. This boy is touted by experts as one of the greatest distance swimmers that the game has ever produced. His long smooth undulating stroke and his wonderful stamina combine to make young Sullivan a marvel in the water.

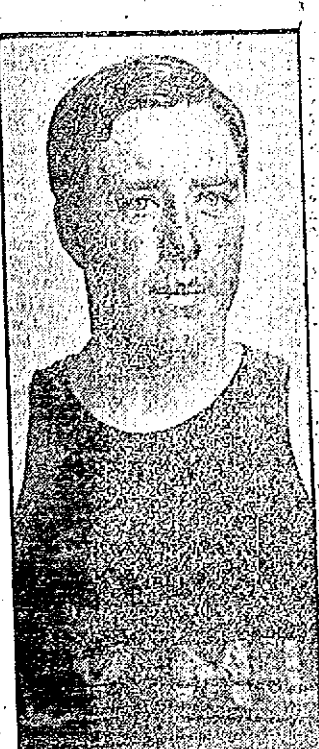

The Lowell athlete will leave New York the first of May and will be accompanied by his father, Thomas D. Sullivan. The elder Sullivan is engaged in the shoe business in Centerville and is as well known among the local business men as his son is among the athletes of this city.

Sullivan is training daily at the C. Y. M. L. and goes to Brookline and Revere twice a week for work in the big indoor tanks at the gymnasiums. The tank at Revere is salt water so the Lowell swimmer will not be obliged to wait until summer to accustom himself to the heavier water of the ocean. Sullivan will start from Dover, England, the point which all the famous swimmers who have attempted this feat have chosen as the most advantageous for a start. Dr. William Crockett, the man who outlined the course to Boston Light for Rosa Pitonoff, is training the Centerville boy and considers his chances of reaching the French coast very promising.

The Catholic Young Men's Lyceum, under whose colors Sullivan has always competed, will hold a dance at Associate hall to help defray the expenses of the trip across the water.

Sullivan's first swim of note, although he has been in the water ever since he was old enough to learn how to swim, was his negotiation of the Merrimack river from Tyngsboro bridge to Rowley bridge three years ago. He completed the seven miles in the heat of summer and put up a new record for the distance as well.

The Lowell boy next went after Sam Richards' record from Nahant to Revere, a distance of 4½ miles and succeeded in beating the Boston swimmer's best time by eight minutes in the first time of 2 hours and 7 minutes. Last summer he finished second to Richards in the swim to Boston Light.

HENRY SULLIVAN

and did not seem to be greatly fatigued by this feat.

Sullivan is 5 feet 6½ inches in height and weighs 191 pounds. He is built along the lines most favored by swimming critics and is very light in the water. His most used stroke is the ordinary breast stroke and he rarely if ever changes his style except for the purpose of an occasional rest for his neck and shoulder muscles.

Besides his father it is expected that several friends will also accompany the local swimmer on his attempt at foreign conquest. Mr. Joseph L. Whidden of Quincy has positively declared himself as a member of the party and several others are sure to see Sullivan perform in English and French waters.

SMALL HANDS HANDICAP BALL PLAYERS BARRED

To the Successful Base Ball Players Pres. Johnson to Stop Baseball Scribes

It was the feminine size of his hands which kept Cy Seymour from being a great pitcher. When he first joined the New York Giants last year he came as a twirler, but he found the greatest difficulty in securing control of the ball, because his hands were so small that he could not get his fingers all the way around the sphere.

Cy was finally forced to give up pitching entirely and go to the outfield, where his hitting rather than his fielding kept him in the game for a long period of years.

Vincent Campbell, the fast center fielder of the Boston Red Sox, has the same handicap as Seymour in regard to the size of his hands.

Campbell's mitts are far below the average in length and diameter, and the muffed flies which he is guilty of are the result of this physical handicap, to a great extent. He is also not so good a thrower as he would be if his hands were a bit more bulky.

Campbell, however, played better ball last season than ever before, and President Gaffney of the Boston club believes that he is going to be a very valuable man for his club this season.

Vincent is a speed marvel, no one excelling him in getting down to first base. But he has two weak points in his offensive work. He is a very poor waiter, and so does not get on nearly so often as he would if he were able to force the pitcher to pitch to him.

His great speed makes him a hard man to stop on the base, but he is not on there so much as he would be if he could develop the habit of waiting to better advantage.

Campbell hits 15 points higher than Bescher, but the extra bases on balls secured by the Red Sox were more valuable than the extra hits made by the Boston gardener.

Owing to his inability to wait, Campbell went to bat more times officially than any other player in the National league last year.

He was charged with 624 times at bat, and no other player reached the 600 mark, though 16 of them played in as many or more games than he did. This is a serious weakness in a lead-off man, who should be on base more often by the pass route. Campbell, in spite of his great speed, is not a very clever base runner.

While he was stealing 67 bases last year Vincent was catching just 12, both men playing in exactly the same number of games.

George Stallings can show Campbell a few things about waiting times out at the plate and running bases smoothly after he gets on. Vincent will be a great power for him, but he is a good hitter and a very fast man, though not yet instructed in how to use his speed to the greatest advantage.

The house in question has been watched for some time by the local police and the suspicion that the opium traffic was being carried on was communicated to the inspectors in Boston. In the visit of the latter last evening, all the implements for the preparing of opium to be smoked were collected and other evidence gained. The place has been frequented by a clique of Chinese residents of Lowell for some time and in the previous raid, gambling apparatus of various descriptions was found and confiscated.

CHICAGO, March 6.—President Ban Johnson of the American league, is said to have a bomb ready for hurling into the ranks of ballplayer-scribes in his organization. It was learned last night that the league's executive was about to issue an edict which would either stop ball players from writing expert opinions for newspapers or stop their salaries.

"It is not the intention to infringe upon the rights of players," said Johnson "but alleged expert criticism and ball playing do not mix. I would not mind so much if the players themselves wrote the stuff which appears in the newspapers throughout the land but in the great majority of cases the players never see stories to which their names are appended until after they have been printed."

"These writings frequently have been an injury to the league and if it can be done—and I think it can—American league players will be allowed to write these criticisms in the near future."

"Most of the star ball players," penned a magazine writer the other day, "come from the corner lots of our big cities where they first began to play. They are big city products."

All of which may be true, provided the term "big city" is defined as meaning any old place that has at least 250 inhabitants, including cats and dogs. It was from such a city that Ty Cobb came; the busy and teeming metropolis of Royston, Ga.

Christy Mathewson, the wizard of the New York Giants, came from that congested center of population—Factoryville, Pa. Walter Johnson first played the national game on the corner lots of that swarming township of humanity, Weiser, Ida.

Nap Rucker's success as a pitcher is due to the fact that he was born in that mighty Babylon of the nation, Alhambra, Ga. Ed Walsh, Tris Speaker, Clyde Lillard, Ed Plank, Jeff Tesreau, Chief Meyers, Frank Baker, Charley Hertzog and some scores of others who might be mentioned broke into the game from corner lots of huge cities that boasted of at least one general store and a postoffice.

A few others who started life in towns almost if not quite as large as those mentioned were Thurbert Chase, Doyle Gregg and Wagner. Indeed, the small towns of less than twenty population should feel jealous of the big cities of 200 souls that have a monopoly of the "famous baseball talent."

HAS GONE TO JOIN HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Moise Grenier of Moody street was all smiles this morning when she boarded the 10:40 o'clock train for the west, where she is to meet her husband, whom she has not seen nor heard from for the past three years. She is going to Superior, Wisconsin, where she will make her home with the man she loves, and when the train rolled along she bade farewell to a large number of her friends who had gathered to the station to see her off.

According to relative of Mrs. Grenier, the latter who was formerly Miss Georgianna Laporte, was married to Moise Grenier four years ago here in Lowell. The young man at the time was employed in a local mill and was not fond of his work. A year after the marriage, he left without informing his better half as to where he was going, and no news has been received from him since until recently, when he wrote asking his wife to join him in the state of Wisconsin, where he was conducting a very successful business.

A few letters were exchanged and the young man informed his wife he had left Lowell because he could do no more work in the mill. His ambition, he said, was to start in business and he thought the west was the best place for him, so he went. He did not want to tell her about it, for he feared she would object. He also urged her to join him and if necessary he would send her money. He told her he had started a restaurant in Superior, Wis., and now he owns one of the largest establishments of this kind in that city and is doing very well.

The young woman after talking it over with her Lowell relatives decided to go and live with her husband, and last week resigned her position and made preparations for the trip. She left this forenoon, bidding goodbye to her many friends, and in a few days she will again be with the one whom she believes will now make her happy.

LOCAL SMALLPOX PATIENT

Discharged From Contagious Hospital

Richard Degagne and his family were discharged from the smallpox hospital in Chelmsford street yesterday. Degagne was sent to the hospital Jan. 21 with a well developed case of smallpox and later his wife and six children were sent there. None of the others, however, contracted the disease. All of them had been vaccinated with the exception of the two youngest and they were vaccinated before being sent to the hospital, so that the vaccination got in its work before the period for contagion had arrived. Degagne, himself, has been vaccinated, but that was some 30 years ago. The Degagnes live at 210 Walnut street.

THE RAILROAD PROBLEMS

Discussed by Chamber of Commerce

BOSTON, March 6.—Everyone of the 2,000 members of the Boston chamber of commerce, which includes business men in all parts of New England was given an opportunity to express his opinion on the railroad problems in this section of the country at three special sessions of the chamber today.

Officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, the Boston & Maine, the Boston & Albany, and the Central Vermont railroads were invited to be present but none of them appeared at the first session this forenoon.

The directors of the chamber, previous to the meetings, made this announcement:

Judging from the suggestions that have been made the members are roughly dividing their opinions into three classes: Those who believe the Boston & Maine and the New Haven should be separated, in accomplishing which the commonwealth should take over the stock of the Boston & Maine held by the Boston Holding Co.; those who believe that the object desired could be best accomplished in some other way and those who believe that no change in the existing situation is advisable.

MISS TAFT'S DOG FOUND

$5000 Italian Poodle Has Been Located

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Scemie, Miss Helen Taft's $5000 Italian poodle which strayed away from the White House on Tuesday and for which the police of Washington have made unremitting search found itself early today. A maid in the home of Miss Taft's aunt, Mrs. Thomas Laughlin, was awakened by the shrill barking of the dog and let him in. A telegram was despatched to Miss Taft asking whether Scemie should be shipped to Augusta, where the Taft family now is or whether it should be kept here until they come north again.

The dog, to which Miss Taft is much attached, was given by King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, to former Secretary of the Navy Myer, who presented the animal to Miss Taft.

AT NORTH BILLERICA

Twenty-two Names Added to the List of Voters of Precinct 1 Last Night

The board of registrars met in the rooms of the Republican club last night and 22 names were registered, all who will be eligible to vote at the next town meeting.

The weekly whist tournament of the Father Mathew T. A. society will be held in their rooms tonight at 8 o'clock.

Lenten services will be held at the St. Anne's mission Friday night, at 7:30. Rev. S. H. Jobe will officiate.

Mr. Nyles Foster and Mr. Harry Johnson left this town Tuesday for Truro, Mass., where they will stop at the home of the latter's father.

The funeral of the late Chester Barker took place yesterday from the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Atkins, in Wilmington, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The bearers were: Raymond Hopkins, Benjamin Spaulding, Harvey Brown, Herbert Shedd and Albert Skelton. There were a great many floral offerings.

Mr. Barker was well known in Billerica, where he had lived previous to his marriage about eleven months ago.

His parents and relatives have the profound sympathy of many friends in their sad loss.

Back From Washington

Mayor O'Donnell has arrived home from Washington and will preside at the hearings to be held this evening. The hearings before the municipal council this evening will be on two separate petitions presented by E. Sanford Baker et al. and William S. Southworth et al. Baker asks that Clithero street be extended from Wyman street to Mansur street. Mr. Southworth asks that Watrous street be extended almost diagonally from Mansur street to Wyman street.

For Park Superintendent

It was stated today that Michael Sullivan, now in the employ of the water department, is a candidate for the position of superintendent of parks and vacant by the resignation of the present superintendent, Charles A. Whittier.

Dental Bill of Sallors

WASHINGTON, March 6.—If a sailor of the United States navy has the misfortune and the government's dentist is busy he will be obliged to pay a private dentist. Complaints of the treasury department today advised the secretary of the navy that the expense for dental treatment of enlisted men cannot be legally paid by the government if the services of a naval dentist cannot be obtained.
